COUNCIL NAMED
ARNOLD ORME

Was Elected Last Night to Succeed
O. C. Norris as Councilman-
at-Large.
MAYOR DECIDED TIE VOTE
Name of John Meredith Was Also
Presented—Hot Little Fight
While it Lasted.

Arnold Orme was elected by the city council last night to succeed O. C. Norris, as councilman-at-large. Two candidates were presented to the council and Mayor Black cast the deciding vote for Mr. Orme. The meeting of the council was called to select a councilman to take the place of O. C. Norris and little time was lost in getting down to business. Councilman Kelley nominated Mr. Orme and George F. Moore presented the name of John Meredith. Mr. Kelley's nomination was seconded by Dr. Parsons and that of Councilman Moore by Alva Newhouse. The secret ballot showed that both men received two votes and in breaking the tie Mayor Black declared Orme elected. It was a hot little fight while it lasted, but was all fixed for Mr. Orme. The unexpected naming of a second candidate forced Mayor Black to show his hand as both candidates were Democratic. Councilman Moore stated that he nominated Mr. Meredith without regard to politics as Mr. Meredith had served on the council before without having made a valuable man. Mr. Orme, the successful candidate, is a well-known business man of this city, being a member of the firm of Ball and Orme, grain dealers. Mr. Orme has never been active in politics but is a staunch Democrat. As a member of the council Mr. Orme has one year to serve to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Norris. The only other thing done by the council was the ratifying of a contract with John Crawley. The contract was for the use of Mr. Crawley's land west of the city in drilling wells. It was the usual contract where the city uses land for the purpose of finding water.

TURKEY DINNER AT POOR FARM
William Hopkins, who has had staring him in the face the possibility of having to spend a dreary Christmas behind steel bars and away from his family, was released yesterday evening, on a thousand dollar bond pending the success of the appeal of his case to the State supreme court. Hopkins' plea for clemency and a new trial failed in court Saturday and he at once prayed for an appeal. He has been sentenced to a term of two to fourteen years in the State

WILL RECEIVE
GIFTS XMAS DAY

Extra Postoffice Force Will Work
Tomorrow so As Not to Spoil
Day For Any Patron.
RECORD FOR SALE IS MADE
Fifty-Two Hundred One-Cent Stamps
Disposed of in One Day.
Totals $196.

Everyone in Rushville will receive his or her Christmas gift on Christmas day, if it comes through the mails and if it reaches Rushville any time Wednesday. That was decreed by Charles Frazee, postmaster, this morning. "We will be delivering mail all day Wednesday," said Mr. Frazee this morning, "so that people who receive presents and gifts through the mail will not be disappointed. We expect to deliver every package that looks like it might contain some Christmas cheer on Christmas day, no matter if we have to work into the night." Extra men and vehicles have been engaged to facilitate the delivery of the Christmas mail. They were pressed into service today when the holiday bundles began pouring in so fast that they could not be handled by the regular force. The Christmas mail is not believed to be any heavier, either going or coming, than it has been in previous years. Christmas day is the one holiday of the year that the rural mail carriers do not get to enjoy. If they should not go over their routes on that day they would be so swamped the day following that it would be impossible to haul their mail. And besides their patrons would not receive their Christmas gifts until a day late. The city carriers will make their regular routes once in the morning. The windows at the postoffice will be open until ten o'clock in the morning. A new record for receipts was made at the postoffice yesterday. A total of $196 was taken in by the clerks, which is sixty-one dollars larger than the largest day preceding the holidays in the history of the Rushville postoffice. The office force was pushed all day yesterday to wait on the customers. Fifty-two hundred one cent stamps were sold and no one person bought more than two hundred. The two days previous to this fell off in sales so that the total Christmas sales will not be much larger than those of last year.

prison for shooting Lee Somers. But there are two prisoners who will have to get what consolation they can out of a Christmas in jail. In years past, with few exceptions, the jail has been empty Christmas. Bert Elder, who is serving a sentence for drunkenness, is one of the unfortunates, and Riley Stewart, who was fined for intoxication in mayor's court this morning, went back to the "iron works" for a stay of several days. Stewart has considerable holdings, but he couldn't pay his fine. The two prisoners will not get turkey for their Christmas dinner, but they will probably have a steaming stewed or roast chicken placed before them. The unfortunates at the county

Rosalyn and Mary Maud
Reed 1.00
Total$138.45
Approximately 275 children were made happy this afternoon when the packages purchased through the Daily Republican Santa Claus fund were delivered. Several automobiles and rigs helped deliver the gifts to the little ones and in all the Christmas spirit was brought into 100 homes. The work of delivering, which has always been one of the hardest attached to the fund, was made this afternoon in record time. The fund this year fell short of that of last year. Only one contribution was received today. The bidding on the two dolls continue very brisk. A bid of $5.00 remains on one and the other has been boosted to $6.25. The dolls will be given to the highest bidder tonight and it is expected by the fund will reach $150 by the money received for the two dolls.

BUILDER OF SEWER DEAD

Julius Keller Expires From Injuries of Five Weeks Ago.
Julius Keller, who constructed the sewer system in Rushville, is dead at an Indianapolis hospital from injuries he received five weeks ago when his buggy was struck by a train as he was attempted to across the tracks. He suffered a brain concussion, a lacerated hip, a fractured arm and internal injuries. Mr. Keller became well acquainted here during the time the sewer was being constructed. He came to Indiana from Germany in 1889. He is survived by a widow, three sons, three brothers and a sister. Word has been received that a baby was born to the wife of Ward Hubbard, brother of Walter Hubbard of this city, at their home in Tipton a few days ago. Mrs. Mary O'Neil, who is about eighty years old, is critically ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Owen McKee.

DRIVES AWAY WITH
RIG WHILE DRUNK

Riley Stewart Gets Too Much Christmas Spirit and Takes Horse From Rack.
Riley Stewart, living southeast of the city, got a little too much Christmas spirits under his belt last night and took a rig belonging to Roy Davis from the rack back of the Knecht store. Stewart got only as far as the corner of Main and Second streets when his joy ride was interrupted by the police and Davis recovered his property. This morning Stewart was fined one dollar and costs by Mayor Black on an intoxication charge and in default of payment was returned to jail where he will spend Christmas unless he finds an "angle." It was thought a charge of grand larceny would be brought against Stewart but Davis was satisfied with having recovered his horse and buggy.

CALENDARS ARE BEING SOUGHT NOW

Every Family Wants a Guide For The Coming Year at This Season.
EXPENSIVE ONES TO BE HAD
"Mister, please give me a calendar and some almanacs," is the question that is pouring into the ears of the business men of the city at this season of the year. Persons can be seen going in every direction with calendars. Some are in possession of high-class calendars which are being given out by local business firms, while others have obtained those bearing the advertisements of patent medicine concerns. Many merchants are giving out calendars of most beautiful designs which are being much sought after. Every family at his time of the year is looking for a guide of the year of 1913. MARRIAGE LICENSES. A marriage license was issued yesterday afternoon to Robert Ellman and Lavina J. Harves; John B. Roots and Edith W. Vanatta; Harvey W. Arnold and Grace McClure; Virgil C. Shouse and Lola Maye Caldwell.

DOCTOR'S WIDOW
CALLED BY DEATH

Funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Spillman Will be Held at Andersonville U. B. Church Thursday.
PNEUMONIA'S FATAL TURN
Disease is Brought on by Exposure During Visit With Relatives in Ohio.
The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Spillman, age sixty-nine, a native of Andersonville, who is dead at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wilbur Miller, south of Connersville, will be held at the Miller home Thursday morning. From there the cortege will move to the U. B. church in Andersonville where another service will be held. Burial will take place in the Fisher cemetery. Mrs. Spillman was the widow of the late Dr. Frank J. Spillman of Andersonville. About ten days ago she returned from a visit with relatives in Ohio to the home of her daughter near Connersville. Directly after her return she contracted pneumonia, presumably brought on by exposure during the trip. From the beginning the most painstaking treatment was given her, and under it she seemed to improve. The relatives and the friends were altogether hopeful until Saturday morning, when one of those sudden relapses, peculiar to pneumonia, occurred. There was little to be done, and from that time till the end the decline was steady and swift. Mrs. Spillman was born at Albany, N. Y., June 6, 1844, and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wrightston. At the age of sixteen years she went to Newport, Ky., and while residing there attended school in Cincinnati. In the year 1861 she was united in marriage to Frank J. Spillman at Cold Springs, Ky., after which they removed to Andersonville, where they resided. Her husband preceded her in death January 4th, 1902. In October of the same year she removed to Fayette county, where she since resided with her daughters, Mrs. W. P. Miller and Mrs. Elizabeth Moore. Five children were born to the union. Mrs. Anna Scott, who passed away in Arizona, where she had gone in hopes of regaining her health, Mrs. Jennie Shriner, of Brookville, Mrs. Minnie Miller and Dr. Frank J. Spillman of Connersville all of the latter being at her bedside when she passed away. She was a member of the Episcopal church and also of the Eastern Star.

HE ADVOCATES
GENERAL LEVY

Addison C. Harris of Indianapolis Says Everybody Should Help Pay For Roads.
EVERYONE USES THEM HE SAYS
Expense Would Not Fall Alone on Farm Owners—Wants Competent Road Engineer.
Professional and business men are taking interest in proposed legislation that may come before the Legislature. No citizen of Indiana probably has been identified more largely with state legislation than Addison C. Harris, attorney. For many years Mr. Harris has been called upon to assist in the preparation of bills to be offered the Legislature and any views he may have on the subject of needed laws are entitled to the consideration due to one who has had a wide experience in such matters. Commenting on roads, Mr. Harris says, in part: "The stability and efficiency of a road depends upon the foundation. There ought to be a good road engineer in the service of the state; first, to provide proper specifications and details for construction and maintaining our roads; and, then, second, with power and authority to enforce compliance. "Roadbuilding is as much a matter of practical knowledge as the erection of buildings or other improvements. No one would think of investing a large sum of money in a building without securing the services and supervision of a competent architect. So roads should be built under the eye of a good engineer. "Now, as the roads are for the use of all the people in the State, it would seem that the people at large contribute in part to the expense of the construction and maintenance of the highways. Such cost ought not to rest wholly upon the farming public and the people living outside of cities. It follows that there should be a general road levy on all the property of the state, both in and outside the cities, and used toward a general highway fund. Then it is proper that the localities contribute a ratable proportion.

RUSHVILLE DUDES DISTURB QUIET
OF A GREENSBURG SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Bunch Traveling by Freight Swiped Auto From Other Crowd and Police Are Called.
CUTS SWATH WITH THE BELLES
A number of Rushville society young men came down Sunday afternoon to call on their young lady friends, says the Greensburg Review. Part of the bunch beat their way down on a freight, and the others came in an auto. The boys who came on the freight saw the swath their fellow-townsmen were cutting with the big auto, and decided to make way with it. While the auto passengers were enjoying the society of a number of young ladies at the skating rink, the freight train crowd took possession of the gasoline wagon and proceeded to burn up the streets about the city. They had not been reveling in the delights of the joy ride long before their game was discovered by the other Rushvillians, and they proceeded to let out a mighty holler. The police were called, and then a real race begun. Up one street and down another pursued and pursuers flew. Clouds of dust and streaks of fire marked the trail of the chase. Citizens on the streets, thinking that a bloody crime had been committed, joined the officers in the man hunt. On they went until

ALLIES SUBMIT THEIR DEMANDS

Turkey Must Give Up Her European Possessions.

BASIS FIXED FOR BICKERING

It is Not to Be Supposed For a Moment That Turkish Masters of Bargaining and Compromise Will Agree to Balkan Demands, but the Conference Has Been Given a Starting Point From Which to Work.

London, Dec. 24.—In diplomatic circles there is encouragement over the result of late meetings of the peace negotiators. The delegates of the allies and Turkey have reached definite business, and the perplexing demand of Turkey for the revictualing of Adrianople has been dropped for the time being. It may be that this problem of revictualing the beleaguered Turkish cities may never again come up at the conference at St. James, but in all probability it will be referred to the military commanders of the allies and the Turk. The allies' territorial demands were read to the Turkish delegates. These call for the surrender of all the Turkish portions in Europe with the exception of that part of the mainland eastward of a line from Midia to Rodosta. Turkey must not only renounce her special rights in Crete, but must yield all of the Aegean islands.

The question of Albanian territory was mentioned, but nothing was said about the indemnity which it is understood will be discussed in the future in connection with the Ottoman debt, a part of which will fall on the shoulders of the allies. Rechid Pasha and the Turkish delegates asked for time to consider the demands. The next meeting was set for Saturday, and the Turkish representatives will confer with the porte in the meantime.

It is not to be expected that Turkey will come to Saturday's conference with any idea of yielding to the demands of the little states. Such is not the way of the bargaining Turk. The allies will be fooled if they expect any such easy diplomatic victory. They will have to struggle as desperately at St. James as they did on the battlefield, and they will have as opponents masters at this sort of warfare. The Ottoman delegates are going into the struggle with the confident expectation that the demands of the allies will be greatly reduced.

FIRST INDICTMENT UNDER THIS CLAUSE

Railway Officials Charged With Conspiracy.

New York, Dec. 24.—Investigation by the government of the proposed alliance between the Grand Trunk and the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, causing the discontinuance of a part of the extension of the Grand Trunk system, an act which aroused a storm of protest in several New England cities, has resulted in the indictment of Charles S. Mellen, president of the New Haven road; Edson J. Chamberlain, president of the Grand Trunk system, and Alfred W. Smithers, chairman of the board of directors of the Grand Trunk system.

They are indicted under the first clause of the Sherman anti-trust act, which makes it a conspiracy to form a combination in restraint of trade, and are the first big railroad officials to be indicted under this clause of the law. The penalty upon conviction is one year in prison, a fine of $5,000, or both. The indictment which names the three railroad men was filed with Judge Hough in the United States circuit court by the special grand jury which has been investigating the New Haven-Grand Trunk deal.

No Clue to Bold Thieves.
 London, Dec. 24.—The British police are as far as ever from a clue to the mystery of the theft of $50,000 in gold from a consignment of $1,000,000 sent from the Bank of England a short time ago to the offices of the Credit Lyonnais at Alexandria.

This Government Will Not Permit Castro to Proceed.

Washington, Dec. 24.—The state department has received confirmation of the report that Cipriano Castro, former dictator of Venezuela, is on board the steamer La Touraine, enroute to New York from Havre. Should Castro be permitted to land, it is certain he will never be permitted to go to Venezuela from here. The United States will see to it that he does not disturb the peace of the Caribbean countries again.

FINANCE PUZZLE IN TURK DEFEAT

What Will Happen to Holders of Is Debt?

"TRIPLE MONEY ALLIANCE"

France, England and Germany, Having Poured Millions Into Turkish Loans, Can Be Relied Upon to Insist Upon Guarantees of Their Citizens' Investments—Position of Ottoman Bank.

In the event of the defeat of Turkey the financial consideration will be of great importance. Writing of the first steps toward peace negotiations M. Leroy-Beaulieu, a political and financial authority of high repute, puts the situation thus: "Turkey's appeal will hardly be considered unless its government accepts as terms of peace its complete abandonment of its European possessions, including Constantinople, and the hour seems near at hand when it must resign itself to that concession."

Whether this prediction is right or wrong in regard to the fate of Constantinople, it is admittedly correct as regards at least a partial dismemberment of the empire. But that involves international considerations of another sort. These other difficulties concern the Turkish national debt, with its lien on the taxes in the European dominions; the loans guaranteed by other European revenues in virtue of the decree of Mouharrem; and, finally, the future status of the Turkish Imperial bank, known as the Banque Ottomane.

Turkey's Loan Security.
 The revenues pledged against Turkey's various foreign loans consist to some extent of proceeds of taxes of provinces outside of Europe, such as the Egyptian tribute and the grain tithes of various districts of Asia Minor. But revenues from European Turkey are also largely involved.

Italy has set a precedent in assuming a proportional part of the similar debt when taking possession of Tripoli. An agreement somewhat similar has been made by Spain in Morocco.

But events have crowded so closely and have already come so near to the complete dissolution of the old order for Turkey in Europe that awkward questions will shortly have to be faced. It is beginning to be recognized that much will depend on the good will of the Balkan allies, especially if their victory is complete and final.

Who Holds the Debt?

The present situation is plain enough. France, England and Germany, the "Triple Money Alliance," have for years opened their money markets wide to Turkish loans, and it is highly improbable they will not unite to insist on preserving the guarantees of their citizens' investments. France has the heaviest interests at stake. A moderate estimate assigns to French holdings 70 per cent of the total Turkish obligations. The United 4 per cent loan—the most important—can present no immediate difficulty. Its annual service demands $2,157,375 (pounds Turkish, equal about $4.40 each in American money), and the annual receipts applied to it are $4,000,000, so that there is a reserve of nearly $2,000,000 for eventualities.

But the nature of the guarantees of this principal debt shows whence difficulties may arise. They are a part of the revenues of the salt and tobacco monopolies, stamp and alcohol taxes, fishery dues and silk tithes, commercial licenses, the tribute of Bulgaria, dues from oriental Rumelia and surplus revenues of the island of Cyprus. Since these latter are themselves the result of international agreement, precedents to solve the coming difficulties may be found in them.

These are only five of the fourteen Turkish loans quoted on the official stock exchange at Paris.

The Balkan allies surely cannot expect to take the attitude of Cuba with respect to the Spanish national debt; still less that of Germany in Alsace-Lorraine with regard to the French national debt.

The Ottoman Bank Problem.

The difficulty of the Ottoman bank is peculiar, but may not prove insoluble. It is a private bank, with a large issue privilege for which it has certain obligations to the Turkish government. This is not a reason why it should not continue to serve the needs of whatever new regime may be established, even that of the Balkan allies. They have no substitute for its dozen branches in what was Turkey in Europe.

The more curious part of the problem arises from the fact that the bank has been obliged to make loans to the Turkish government for the present war and has received as a guarantee treasury notes which themselves are guaranteed by revenues collected by the debt administration.

In all this financial hornet's nest it is well to point out that all the national banks of the world have a certain common interest of self defence. They cannot afford to allow so important an international precedent to be drawn against investments made by them in years gone by in entire good faith and under the shelter and guarantee of treaties in which all the neutral powers participated.

COUNTY NEWS

Glenwood.

Rev. Sterrett preached a Christmas sermon Sunday mornin' at 10:30 o'clock. It was well received by a very attentive audience. Just before the sermon, Mrs. Williams and Miss Jessie Murphy sang a duet very beautifully, entitled "Though Sins be as Scarlet." The audience was held spellbound throughout the rendition of the song. Miss Jessie sang soprano and Mrs. Williams sang alto, each rendering her part well.

The usual services were held at the U. P. church Sabbath afternoon.

Everyone is looking forward to the making and receiving of gifts.

Lee Link is not the only one who has been on the rampage, as stated in an item of the Republican of Friday. There are others, and if they don't stop they, too, will be reported in these columns. There should not be any fine attached but a jail sentence at hard labor. We believe we know some who become intoxicated just to get their winter's board.

We have some citizens who make it a point to tease all young children of both sexes when they have been overtaken in a fault, or at least suspected of one. Now, is that the way to do? If not, these men had better cease their teasing.

Jesse Morris is now a full-fledged grocery man of our town. Success to you, Mr. Morris.

The new parsonage will be completed this week and will then be ready for occupancy.

Miss Ruth Harwell is able to sit up and receive callers part of the time.

Mrs. Mary A. Mapes, who has passed her 91st mile stone, is now able to be up and around. She almost had a siege of the pneumonia.

Mrs. E. Daily and children called on Grandma Daily southeast of here.

Verne Dolan and family have moved in with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunham.

We understand that the McGraw hall will be initiated with a game of basket ball.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Link and son Leslie spent the Sabbath with Rev. and Mrs. C. S. Black, of Milroy, a former pastor here.

T. J. Richardson discovered that he had a siege with the whooping cough, which he thought at first was a cold.

We see from a description given in the Comersville Examiner that Waterloo township, Fayette county, has a new and consolidated school. The building has three rooms with all modern appliances and an auditorium in the basement, with heating and lighting plant. It only cost $12,000, while ours cost $15,000. Why the difference? Both buildings are out of brick. This one has one school room more, but the other has an auditorium and lighting plant. Why the difference in cost? Who can tell?

SCIENTISTS PUZZLED BY REMARKABLE DOG

Yale Professors Witness an Astonishing Test.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 24.—Cameron, Petrunkevitch and Woodruff, three Yale professors, gave tests to Jasper, an English brindle terrier two years and three months old, born in Richmond, Va., and owned by Dixie Taylor, who is visiting different colleges to let the professors of psychology test the animal's mental qualities.

Prof. Petrunkevitch gave a two-hours' test to Jasper and then said he was the most wonderful dog he had ever seen. The professor ordered the dog to walk up the stairs, stop in the middle, and stand on his hind feet.
Up the stairs walked the animal and directly in the middle of the staircase
he stopped and placed his forepaws on the banister rail.

Prof. Woodruff went into a dark room, while the owner of the dog sat
in the parlor some few doors away, with the dog. Taylor then told the dog to go into the room in which Prof.
Woodruff was, and take a handkerchief out of the professor's pocket.
The dog immediately bounded away and did as he was bidden. Other tests put to the animal were equally as hard. He was told to find a jardiniere, which he did immediately. In quick succession he was told to knock over a wastebasket, open a door and pick up a pencil, all of which he performed immediately after the command.

With 2 Cents Missing, but Individual
Employees Have Used Ingenious
Methods of Stealing.

Uncle Sam is going about the counting of his money, something more than $1,000,000,000, and that it will not be entirely "easy day work" may be judged by the fact that it will employ about twenty husky laborers, besides a committee of treasury officers, for probably more than two months.

This count is made necessary officially by the change of United States Treasurer Lee McClung being succeded by Carmi Thompson of Ohio. When the formal transfer is made the new treasurer will give a receipt to the outgoing treasurer for more than $1, 000,000,000 in gold and silver coin and paper money.

All of the paper money is counted piece by piece. Much of the gold is counted in that way, but practically all the silver and some of the gold are counted by weighing the sealed bags containing them on scales that are delicately poised so that the slightest variation from the ascertained weight of a bag of coin would be accurately recorded. The silver and gold coin is kept in sealed bags.

Tossing Around Money.

It requires some physical effort to count these. They are heavy, and each one must be handled separately. Taken from the pile in which it is stacked by a laborer, a bag is tossed to another laborer, who passes it before the committee of inspection. The committee after weighing the bag passes it on to other laborers, who put it back in the symmetrical pile until the next count is ordered.

Men have been permanently injured by accidents in handling these bags of coin. There are a number of men now being carried on the rolls of the treasury who have suffered sprains or broken limbs or been injured internally through being hit with money bags in the course of the official count.

The committee which supervises the count is usually composed of three persons, all officers of the treasury.
These counts, often as a change in the treasurer's office has required them, have almost invariably shown the stock of Uncle Sam's money in the treasury to be intact, but once there was a shortage. It was in 1885, when the Democratic party succeeded to power in the government after years spent in the political wilderness.

There was also a frequent demand
from campaign orators that the books of the treasury be opened and the cash counted. So the country was not wholly unprepared to hear that the official count of the billion or so in the treasurer's office had disclosed a shortage.

Shortage Caused Surprise.

There was really some surprise,
though, at the size of the deficit. It was only 2 cents.

Republicans throughout the country
rallied heroically to the relief of their party. A perfect shower of two cent stamps fell upon the United States
treasurer, coming through the mails
from all sections of the country, but it was not necessary to turn to private subscriptions to make up the deficit.
Two days after the official count ended the missing 2 cents were found as the result of moving a desk.

So far as the memory of the present
officers of the treasurer's staff goes,
this is the only shortage that has ever been disclosed by any count of treasury cash, although it is possible that there may have been some others.
There have been losses and thefts from time to time.

One United States treasurer in recent years made the discovery that a thousand dollars was missing. The sum was represented by a single bill.
He made good the loss, and congress
later reimbursed him.

Several years ago a negro laborer managed to make away with several hundred dollars while engaged in the work of handling bags of silver. He was detected and punished.

He invented a novel method of securing money and concealing the act.
He provided himself with slugs of lead
each of which weighed exactly the same as the weight of a silver dollar.
Not infrequently in the progress of a count these bags of silver coin fall open or are found to be untied. It is an easy matter for a skillful man to tear them open by quickly removing the string.

This laborer from time to time while working at the top of a huge heap of sacks of coin would report to the committee below that sacks were open, and he would then be directed to tie the sacks. Probably he was personally responsible for the sacks being open, but he seized this opportunity to extract one or more silver dollars from the bag and slipped lead slugs of equal weight to take their place.

When the bags were weighed later
they were found to be of proper weight, and for a long time suspicion was averted from the offender. He had been a trusted employee, which aided his plan, but finally he was detected and arrested.

MRS. DAYTON IS NOT PERTURBED

Police Surveillance Does Not Affect Her.

THINKS JOE SNYDER IS DEAD

Widow of Richmond Cellar Murder Victim Believes Alleged Murderer
of Her Husband Has Killed Himself, but Expresses Hope That He Has Not and That He Will Yet Be Brought to Punishment.

Richmond, Ind., Dec. 24.—Mrs. Clara
Dayton still maintains the composure that has marked her attitude ever since the finding of the skeleton of her husband in the cellar of her home, though she is now aware of the fact
that she is under police surveillance.
Mrs. Dayton has expressed the opinion many times that Joseph Snyder,
the alleged murderer, has killed himself, but she hopes, she says, that if he has not he soon will be arrested. "I would like to see him punished to the full extent of the law," said Mrs. Dayton, "and I believe that if he is not dead it will only be a matter of time until he is caught."

Police officers in a half dozen Indiana and Ohio towns have arrested men suspected of being Snyder, and have telephoned to Superintendent of Police Gorman here, who in each case ordered the men released when a detailed description of the men in custody was given. Superintendent Gorman does not believe Snyder is many miles from Richmond.

BROUGHT THE TEARS

Lawyers' Appeals to Jury Stirrs Dynamite Defiance.

Indianapolis, Dec. 24.—A pathetic appeals to the jury in the dynamiting cases were made by attorneys for the defendants who plead with the jurymen not to be guided by prejudice, but to remember their wives and children
at home and to think of other wives and children if they should send innocent men to prison. Attorney Harding made a strong plea for President Ryan and the members of the executive committee of the iron workers' union, and analyzed the evidence against them, declaring that it did not show that they had been guilty of a single illegal act. He picked Ryan as a man on whom McNamara had shamefully imposed in connection with the financial affairs of the organization. Several of the defendants were in tears as their lawyers referred to their homes and waiting wives and children.

A TEST CASE

Indiana Poll Tax to Get Into the Supreme Court.

Elkhart, Ind., Dec. 24.—That Indiana's poll tax law is unconstitutional is the contention of City Judge C. A.
Lee in a demurrer he filed as attorney for V. P. Kasba, a Socialist, who is making a test case by resisting the collection of the tax. The constitutionality of the law is attacked on the ground that the act is not uniform, as it exempts male persons before reaching twenty-one years and after they are fifty, and also exempts city firemen. The Socialists say they will carry the case to the supreme court if necessary.

Prison Doors Open to Twenty-Five.

Indianapolis, Dec. 24.—The governor acted on the December report of the state board of pardons, following its recommendations for eleven paroles and one pardon. In addition to the grants of the state board, the governor unbarred the doors of the Indiana reformatory at Jeffersonville and released fourteen prisoners there on the recommendation of Superintendent David C. Peyton. All of these paroles were planned by officials of the state
institution as Christmas gifts to men whose records for service and trustworthiness merited them.

Serious Auto Accident.

Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 24.—Five occupants of an automobile were seriously injured when a streetcar crashed into the machine at a street intersection. The automobile was wrecked.
The injured were: Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hedges, Emory Miller, Mrs.
Blanche Miller and Ralph Hedges, six years old. The boy is in a critical condition.

Auto Crushed Boy to Death.

Huntington, Ind., Dec. 24.—Paul
Jones, aged seven, son of Clyde Jones, was killed when an automobile ran over him, the wheels crushing his head.

ANCIENT RUINS

Long Forgotten City Discovered by Aviators in Wilds of Tripoli.

Rome, Dec. 24.—Two Italian officers reconnoitering about Tripoli in an airship discovered beyond Zaira a ruined
city amidst the sand and wilderness.
The city was identified as Sabatta,
once a flourishing colony of imperial Rome.

Flying low, the officers took photographs which upon development revealed imposing, extensive and well preserved ruins with many marble statues.

The Fact That We Are Selling the Most of the Storm Buggies This Year

is easily accounted for. It is no trouble to sell a buggy if you have the best buggy, the best price, and the best terms. We claim these three points of advantage but are willing to leave the matter to you to decide whether or not our claim is a just one. We believe that you will agree with us on this decision if you will take the time to come in and see our stock of storm buggies. We also believe that if we can convince you of the fact that we can give you the best buggy at the best price and on the best terms, and you want a Storm Buggy that we can sell you what you want. Remember our buggies are different in style as well as quality and if you buy one of them, you will be satisfied with it.

Suitable Reward.

Bills have recently been introduced into the Senate and House of Representatives looking to the reward of Colonel Goethals by authorizing his appointment as an additional major-general, and, in the discretion of the President, providing for his assignment as chief of engineers. This proposition suggests several comments, the first of which is that it makes no provision for the reward of Colonel Gorgas. It is also defective in that its provisions depend in part on a contingency which Congress cannot control, because the selection of the chief of engineers is a constitutional function of the executive.

It is now recognized by all well-informed persons that the sanitation of the Isthmus was as essential to the success of the canal construction as was the surmounting of the engineering difficulties, and, of the two sets of problems involved, the sanitary problems were newer and along less well-beaten paths than were the engineering ones. While Colonel Goethals is the administrative head of the commission, he and Colonel Gorgas have at present the same military rank. The applications of engineering science to canal construction have no intrinsic precedents over those of medical science to the new and complex questions of tropical sanitation; it would seem, therefore, that there should be little or no difference in the value of the rewards given the two, and it is appropriate that they be provided for in the same act.

There are some other considerations which might well be kept in view when such legislation is under consideration. This work is a great national enterprise which is apart from the usual activities of army officers, and in no way connected with army administration. The reward should be in keeping with the national dignity and the magnitude of the enterprise, and should be outside of the routine of Army promotions, so that other officers of the engineering and medical corps who have borne the burden of the routine but important work, without the incentives of increased pay and public applause, may not be called on to give their own ewe lamb of promotion as a contribution to the nation's gift.

An incubator said to have been used by George Washington was made in 1712. If the Father of his Country had ever tried a contrivance of that kind he would not have been satisfied with one made twenty years before he was born, nor would Benjamin Franklin have failed to originate something better.

A town that never has anything to do in a public way is on the way to the cemetery. Any citizen who will do nothing for his town is helping to dig the grave. A man who curses the town furnishes the coffin. The man who is so selfish as to have no time from his business to give to city affairs is making the shroud. The man who will not advertise is driving the hearse. The man who is so stingy as to be howling hard times, preaches the funeral, sings the doxology, and thus the town is buried from all sorrow and care.

Kansas anbles to the front in Washington with some recall theories. Having just recalled a Republican governor and replaced him with a Democrat, and helped to recall a Republican president in the same way, Kansas must be delighted with its Democratic boom, even though the result of unconscious celebration.

Not merely does Woodrow Wilson receive letters threatening his life, but judging by his other correspondence, he must have to pay several cents excess postage to get them out of the office.

If President Taft would teach his class in constitutional law how to get around the constitution, there is no doubt that it would be a howling success.

While dissolving the coal trust does not make coal cheaper, it has given the department of justice healthful occupation for five years.

The hold-up men threaten Gov. Wilson's life, but before they "get" him, the office seekers will have talked him to death.

Some men are in such a position that they might turn suffragette and better their situation.

It's strange that some people will try to please the children with really useful Christmas presents like rubber boots, to which they are entitled anyway.

Clarabelle—We are at a loss to recommend a book for an ideal Christmas gift for him. We presume that he would like a cheek book about as well as any. One like Kin Hubbard's, for instance, all bound in gingham checks.

We were informed yesterday that we overlooked a particularly good wheeze Saturday, it being the shortest day in the year and also the season for short purses. Yes it was seasonable.

A philosopher—he really should be termed one—says you should discount your expectations by eighty per cent. That's fine advice for Christmas eve.

This season's fashions have so decreed that a man can buy his wife a pretty decent sort of a coat, wear it to work all week and then let her dress up in it on Sunday and go to church.

Christmas is a favorite time to give gloves as a present, but the mitten can be given any time of year.

The rush of Christmas was pretty bad again, but it was some satisfaction when a woman trod on your toes, that you accidentally were able to paste her in the eye with your elbow.

The fact that you belong to the Society to Prevent Useless Giving is no excuse for passing up the contribution box.

Mrs. Ham is suing Mr. Ham in the Shelby county circuit court for non-support. We would almost guess that he neglected to buy a ham.

Philanthropists this week have turned early shopping to elbowing through crowds.

Charitable people are sending Christmas turkeys to the jails, almshouses and stockholders in the express companies who are going to suffer so much from the parcels post.

We slipped a cog yesterday and forgot to get out the colyum. Since this is Christmas eve and not more than one of our half dozen readers will peruse it anyway, we felt that we could make it as long and as rotten as we pleased. Don't send flowers. We can raise them, but we can't eggs.

Here the Rushville dudes, who seem to be familiar with all the ins and outs of a lumber yard, made a dash for the big stacks of flooring and were soon lost to view. The officers searched high and low. Miss Bonnie Helen Henley and Roy A. Mayse were quietly married at Carthage this afternoon. Association Sessions.

LAFOLLETTE DRAWING CARD

A number of Rushville and Rush county teachers will attend the annual meeting of the State Teachers Association which begins in Indianapolis the day after Christmas. The program for the three days session contains so much of interest to the pedagogues that the officials of the State association feel that its distribution over the State will bring good results. The chairman of the executive committee, while sending out the programs, has discovered that there are over 13,000 teacher in Indiana who are not members of the association. This leaves about 4,000 which belong.

Of course Senator Bob LaFollette, who is to speak Thursday evening December 26, will be one of the big drawing cards. The State legal authorities have ruled that teachers may be allowed daily wages for attending the state association in Indianapolis, under the law enacted by the last legislature, permitting school authorities to set aside three days out of each school year for visiting other schools and for attending teachers' meetings.

LOST IN MISTS
OF MIGHTY PASTOrigin of Christmas Tree Dates
From Early History Years After Christ's Birth.

IN BIG DEMAND THIS YEAR

The origin of the Christmas tree is enshrouded in that period of world history when facts were handed down chiefly by word of mouth and all the beautiful mystery of tradition elings about it, says an exchange. Somewhere near a thousand years after the Christ child came, there drifted into Europe a wonderful story from the Holy Land. How it came no one knows authentically. But when it came it adapted itself to the ceremonies already in existence and of the union grew the Christmas tree. Christmas trees this year are in unusual demand.

'WATERMELON' IS
NEW TYPE OF TRAMPCentral Figure in "He Comes up Smiling" Never Gets Sour on The World.

REPUBLICAN'S NEW SERIAL

The day after Christmas will be a fine time to come up smiling. On that day, Thursday, December 26, the Daily Republican will start its new serial story, "He comes up Smiling," by Charles Sherman. It is the holiday book. It has taken marvelously well with reading public and the Daily Republican was quick to see the trend of favor toward it. "Watermelon," around whom this delicately, romantic comedy-novel is wound, is an unusual character. He is one of the so-called knights of the road, but he is not a "regular" tramp. He is distinctly different from the ordinary popular novel heroes in that he comes up smiling every time. He never grows morose; he never sours on the world; the inspiration his life affords is a sure cure for pessimism in a word, he is a new man in the world of fiction.

He is kidnapped by a Wall street "bear," by a general, and by the most beautiful girl in the world, but he never grows weary. You'll always find him smiling. "Watermelon" is first aid for a grouch. He'll cure it.

Connersville News: The Rev. W. H. Clark, who has been suffering severely of late, as the result of a rusty nail wound in one of his feet, is rapidly reaching complete recovery.

Mrs. A. T. Mahin received word this morning of the death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Webb F. Fouche in Indianapolis. Mrs. Fouche will be remembered here by many as she formerly resided in this city.

poor asylum will have a feast that will long be remembered. There is being prepared for them a meal that will be surpassed by few at this happy season. The menu will be headed by turkey—some of the "home-grown" kind that sizzles and simmers when the good sauce and gravy is poured over it.

Carefully and faithfully have the attendants and some of the inmates at the county institution watched over this bunch of turkeys. Their greedy eyes have watched the Christmas birds grow from tweeting infancy to gobbling, strutting maturity. They had been promised a turkey dinner for Christmas some time ago, for them, but they could not be found, and the supposition is that they crawled under a pile of lumber and waited for the night freight to bear them back to the village from whence they came. The auto was returned to its owner and once more the usual Sunday afternoon quiet of the city was restored.

DEATH COMES TO JOSEPH L. FINLEY

Former Resident of This City Dies Just Three Days After His Wife.

REMAINS BROUGHT HERE

Joseph L. Finley, 75 years old, a former resident of this city, died yesterday afternoon at his home 1533 North Illinois street, Indianapolis. Mr. Finley had been in poor health for some time and the shock occasioned by the death of his wife only last Friday brought on pneumonia which caused his death. Mr. Finley was unable to come here Sunday when his wife was buried.

Mr. Finley was well known here and at one time was superintendent of the county asylum. He was a member of the local Knights of Pythias lodge. He is survived by two children, Mrs. Minnie Ensley and Charles F. Finley. The funeral services will be conducted tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock at the late residence and the remains will be brought here for burial, arriving on the 1:20 I. & C. car. The burial will be in charge of the Knights of Pythias.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace will show the usual two pictures tonight, "Baby Fingers" is the title of a Gem comedy. The other is a Bison 101 "A Shot in the Dark."

The Princess will show a thrilling railroad drama, "The Rival Engineers" for the first picture tonight. It is a Kalem film and one of the features is a race between two trains. "The Limited Divorce" is the title of a Biograph comedy. A free matinee was given this afternoon. A special program has been arranged for tomorrow. "The Sporting Editor" is the title of a comedy-drama showing Arthur Johnson in the title role. The other is a Vitagraph drama. A Christmas Matinee will be given.

AMERICAN GIANT TO POCKET THEM

French Authority Shows Why We Must Take Little Republics.

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE CANAL.

In the Panama Waterway, Says Rondet Saint, Are the Elements of a Formidable Problem, Not to Say Conflict—Possible Clash Over Clipperton Island Held by French.

The Panama canal furnishes a text for Rondet Saint, a French authority on political affairs, who makes a remarkable analysis of the United States' imperial policy and draws conclusions that are being widely discussed in Europe.

"The Panama canal was a matter of business with us," he says. "For the Yankees it is a matter of life and death."

He complains that insufficient importance is attached in France to events now taking place in Central America, where, he says, the United States is moving, in the way foretold long ago by all who gave themselves the trouble to think and look ahead, in the carrying out of its policy of annexation. This step he considers to be actuated not by "the luxury of imperialism or national ambition," but to be an essential necessity. He says:

"The United States is pursuing two aims—first, by cutting through Panama to insure the proper working of its naval and merchant fleets of the Atlantic and Pacific; second, to strengthen pan-Americanism from one end to the other of the new world under the aegis of the great North American republic."

Uncle Sam's Capacious Pocket.

After setting forth recent events in Panama, Colombia and Nicaragua the writer continues:

"The United States is, according to a recent saying, like a giant who will put in his pocket five little children—the five republics of Central America. This event is almost mathematically certain, and the rest of the world will accept its accomplishment without protest, since their interests in this particular domain do not amount to one-tenth of the Yankee nation's stake."

"It must not, however, be thought that the question will be a simple one. It is bound up with circumstances not yet apparent, but profoundly troubling, because inevitable and incalculable in their consequences."

"I speak of the political, economic and ethnographic barrier raised by Mexico before the projects of the Union."

"Here, then, is a serious consideration. But there is another which should be still more pressing in the eyes of the Yankees. When the northern provinces of Mexico were annexed the conquerors omitted, for some inexplicable reason, to take over the narrow strip of land at the bottom of the gulf of California, which joins northern California to the state of Sonora. The United States thus closed to itself the outlet of the Sacramento basin, which serves the whole southwest of the Union. The outlet of this river, economically so important, is a cul de sac, the last American city in Arizona being some distance from the hinterland. No Yankee expansion is perceptible in the immense gulf of California. No port has been created at the mouth of this immense river, where a maritime metropolis would have commanded the surrounding country and opened up the hinterland."

Need the Gulf of California.

"After the completion of the Panama canal will the United States consent indefinitely to leave its southwestern states isolated from the sea and let the vast fluvial network of the Sacramento remain a closed road when it should be one of the most active vehicles of commercial movement of a great part of the Union?"

"Moreover, the gulf of California forms the natural access of the United States to the canal and is also the obvious route of the relations of the United States with Central America, already partly occupied by it today."

"We have thus all the elements of a formidable problem, not to say conflict, which we should follow with particular attention, for our country is by no means a disinterested spectator of the possible developments in that part of the world."

The writer concludes his article by dwelling on the approaching importance of Clipperton island, which, occupied by the French when far from any trade route, will with the opening of the isthmus lie directly in the new currents of the world's traffic toward the east. The French occupation is effective, he points out, since a light-house, visible from fifteen miles, has been kept up for some time by the French government.

The fact that Mexico's claims to possess this island were entertained by other nations and carried before The Hague tribunal constitutes, he says, an affront to French foreign policy, whatever sympathy France may have for the Mexican nation, "who might at the present moment more than ever gain for herself the friendly feeling of foreign nations."

MENTAL ACROBATICS OF A CEYLON YOUTH.

Remarkable Feats Performed by a Boy of Sixteen.

The report from the Ceylon branch of the Royal Asiatic society at Colombo describes the remarkable mathematical feats before that body of a Tamil boy of sixteen, named Arumogan.

The youth knows no English except the names of the numerals and mathematical expressions. He is abnormal not only in mind but in body, for he has six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot. Personally, he believes that his mathematical genius is a gift of the god Subramana. He says that when he was eight years old he was taken to the Karttagay festival at Tiruparankundram and that in the night he dreamed that the god came to him and wrote the word "Mathematics" on his tongue, and that in the morning he had twelve fingers and twelve toes instead of the normal number.

At the same time, he declares, he found himself suddenly possessed of great calculating powers. Among the tests to which he was submitted by the Royal Asiatic society, all of which he responded to in five seconds or less, were the square root of 853,776—the answer to which is 924; the cube root of 274,025—65; the product of 976 and 79—77,104; and the product of 182,347 and 231. The answer to the last, which is 226,922,175, came in two seconds.

In the case of one sum given him the examiners had the wrong answer set down in writing, but the correct answer was given by the youth. Problems in compound interest, discount, exchange and other arithmetical rules were given him, but he answered all tests correctly, using only mental calculations.

From time to time the world has been startled by wonderful lightning calculators such as this. Romanoff, the French lightning calculator, is still living and has been able for years to juggle in an extraordinary fashion with figures. He can give in a moment the day of the week on which any given date fell. There died at the end of last year the famous lightning calculator known as the "Marvelous Griffith."

When discovered, at twenty-seven years of age, by a Chicago newspaper man, he was working on a farm for 50 cents daily and his board. In February, 1910, a score of professors from Harvard university tried to corner Griffith, but he gave the solution to the problems set him almost immediately after they were mentioned to him.

Giuseppe Mangiamelli, when eight years of age, could solve a great variety of very difficult arithmetical problems by the mere operation of the mind. The Royal Academy of Sciences in Paris placed him in a college, but it was found that his mental calculating faculties began to diminish when he devoted himself to ordinary study. The English mathematician, Wallis, performed arithmetical operations, such as the extraction of roots to forty decimal places solely by his marvelous power of memory.

RECORDED DEATH SYMPTOMS

Paris Professor After Taking Poison Made Notes of Condition.

Louis Charles Robin of Paris, the enthusiast for the co-education of the sexes, who committed suicide recently, killed himself with extraordinary calmness and deliberation. He was seventy-five years of age, and since he underwent a serious operation five years ago he had had bad health.

He held the opinion that any man who became incapable of useful work should "disappear," and to carry out his belief he obtained poison.

After taking a small quantity he sat down and made notes of his condition. One entry was to the effect that his effort was "unsuccessful" and that he must take a larger dose, which he expected would be fatal.

Professor Robin was usually an early riser, but as he had not appeared by 10 o'clock one morning his son went to his bedroom and found him almost at the point of death. He pointed to a bottle and was just able to say that he had taken some of the contents. He died soon afterward.

WOMAN, 87, GETS NEW TOOTH

Milan Resident Calls Doctor, Who Is Amazed by Phenomenon.

The Masi Torello correspondent of the Corriere della Sera, Milan, reports a strange event in the life of a countrywoman who has reached the ripe age of eighty-seven. The old woman is still strong and healthy, but not even these physical qualities led her to expect a new molar tooth to make its appearance in her mouth last year. One actually did grow, however, and a doctor was summoned to the old peasant's house. She complained of toothache, and the doctor was able to announce after a rapid examination that a second tooth was just beginning to grow.

The phenomenon is the subject of much comment, but there is at all events satisfactory medical evidence to testify that the strange report is fully warranted and accurate.

BAYONET THOUGHT OBSOLETE

Use Made by Bulgarians Wakes Up Military Experts.

It is curious to think that the bayonet, which has played so great a part in the Bulgarian victories, might not have been in existence if the military experts of the kingdom had had their way.

In 1892, in the Bulgarian scheme of modern armament, the Mannlicher rifles were ordered without bayonets, the authorities having come to the conclusion that the bayonet was obsolete in modern warfare. The average opinion of the army, however, soon made itself felt, and the first order was countermanded, and the rifle was ordered with the bayonet, but the bayonet was not of the ordinary size, but really a sort of knife. In subsequent orders the bayonet was not questioned.

It is interesting to speculate what the Bulgarian fortunes might have been without the bayonet.

ASKS FASTER FREIGHT TRAINS

Interstate Board Also Urges Co-operation to End Car Shortage.

So serious has the car shortage in this country become that the Interstate commerce commission has published an appeal to railroads and shippers to co-operate in order to avoid serious injury to numerous industries.

The railways in particular are asked to return borrowed cars as soon as possible. The commission also suggests to the carriers that they increase the speed of their freight trains.

Officers of the commission say this unprecedented car shortage is due to the unusually large crops and general activity in all the chief industries.

XMAS SHOPPING ENDS TONIGHT

Local Tradesmen Say Holiday Business Has Met Their Expectations in Every Respect.

SOME DECLARE IT BETTER

Marked Contrast Between Present Shopping Days and Those of Yore—Come in Autos.

The Christmas shopping season will come to a close this evening. With it will come the last final rush. Saturday was a big day for the merchants of Rushville; yesterday was almost as big and today thronged the streets.

The closing days of the shopping season this year were not marked by the stampede that they once were. The early shopping idea is gaining ground every year. It's common sense is appealing to people. The humanity side of it also has a direct appeal.

Although there was not the rush that usually is incident to the few days before Christmas, Rushville merchants have been doing the business anyway. Doubting Thomases need but visit a few stores where Christmas wares are on sale. One business man said yesterday his holiday trade had been better than for years. Others have made the same assertion.

But the shopping season is not what it once was. There is no hitch-hack around the court house, crowded with shivering teams, and there is not the shivering crowd congested on the street corners as in the old days. There are more places for the people to go now. A big store can swallow up hundreds of them.

There is one picture on the square that speaks eloquently of the change time has wrought. At 2 o'clock the entire court house square was skirted with automobiles—the machines of farmers. There was not a team of horses in sight except a couple which were hooked to moving vans that were standing out in the street on the south side.

Considerably more than half of the trade that came to Rushville for the final Christmas shopping came in automobiles and traction cars. The horse and buggy were all well enough in their day, but they are too slow for most of the farmer folk in this rapid age.

The merchants say that there are two things that reflect the condition of the community, as to whether it is prosperous or not. These things are the number of toys sold and the value of the presents purchased for adults. If there is smart buying of toys and if the presents for the grownups are of the cheap kind, the merchants know that money is not particularly plentiful among the people. This year the volume of toys sold in Rushville exceeds that of any former year, and it is said that the number of expensive presents has never been exceeded. This indubitably reveals that the people as a whole are pretty well provided with Christmas money.

The weather is all right in every particular except for the absence of snow. Everybody likes a nice layer of "the beautiful" along about Christmas. There was a little of last week's snow left in spots. The air, however, had the Christmas crimp in it, and begot the hope that by the time the jingle of the bells on the reindeers is heard the snow will be here.

TEACHERS CAN AID SANITATION

Dr. Charles North Would Use Rural Instructors and Tell Essentials of Sanitary Science.

SPECIAL TRAINING IS NEEDED

Says Mere Teaching of Physiology is Not What is Needed—Increases Average of Life.

The country school teacher should be a public health educator, according to Dr. Charles E. North, of New York City, author of an article on "Sanitation in Rural Communities," just issued by the United States bureau of education. As the natural intellectual leader of his community, the rural teacher, he says, can do for public health in the country what the medical inspector and school nurse are doing in the city—point the way to clean living.

Mere teaching of physiology is not what is needed. Physiology may satisfy the curiosity of children, but it does not protect them in any way against tuberculosis from contaminated milk or typhoid from impure water. The rising generation, whether in the country or in the city, has a right to be instructed in the first principles of sanitary science.

Far from being difficult to teach in the elementary school, the subject of public health can be made both understandable and interesting, the article says. Such a simple operation as washing the hands, for instance, becomes attractive when studied with reference to bacteria.

"Personal cleanliness, purity of food and of drinks, the nature of disease, and the method of transference, are all things which can be expressed in the simplest terms and made clear to the understanding of children," asserts Dr. North. "Milk, its value as a food, the fact that it is highly appreciated by bacteria, and that it is, therefore, necessary to protect it against them—these are not too difficult for the child to understand."

Dr. North emphasizes the need of special training in this subject for school teachers. He believes that normal schools and teachers' colleges should have regular courses in public health, so that the country school teacher may be armed with the essential facts of sanitary science.

Remarkable results may be expected to follow adequate public health work by rural school teachers, he thinks. It is estimated that if effective sanitation were enforced the present average of forty-five years for human life would be prolonged to sixty. "In rural communities 400,000 persons die each year, and about two million others are seriously ill from infectious diseases," says Dr. North. "If only one-half of these deaths and cases of sickness can be eliminated it means that an immense field of useful work lies at the hand of the country school teacher who will become a public health educator, and will instruct the children and the mothers and fathers how to prevent the transference of poisonous bacteria."

Dr. J. C. Sexton has been requested by the Rev. Thomas McWhinney to address the Aid Society at the next meeting, on "Alaska."

The Officers and Directors of the Peoples National Bank and the Peoples Loan & Trust Company, of Rushville, Ind., Wish You a Merry Christmas and a Very Prosperous and Happy New Year.

COUNCIL NAMED ARNOLD ORME

Was Elected Last Night to Succeed
O. C. Norris as Councilman-
at-Large.

MAYOR DECIDED TIE VOTE

Name of John Meredith Was Also
Presented—Hot Little Fight
While it Lasted.

Arnold Orme was elected by the city council last night to succeed O. C. Norris, as councilman-at-large. Two candidates were presented to the council and Mayor Black cast the deciding vote for Mr. Orme.

The meeting of the council was called to select a councilman to take the place of O. C. Norris and little time was lost in getting down to business. Councilman Kelley nominated Mr. Orme and George F. Moore presented the name of John Meredith. Mr. Kelley's nomination was seconded by Dr. Parsons and that of Councilman Moore by Alva Newhouse. The secret ballot showed that both men received two votes and in breaking the tie Mayor Black declared Orme elected.

It was a hot little fight while it lasted, but was all fixed for Mr. Orme. The unexpected naming of a second candidate forced Mayor Black to show his hand as both candidates were Democratic. Councilman Moore stated that he nominated Mr. Meredith without regard to politics as Mr. Meredith had served on the council before would have made a valuable man.

Mr. Orme, the successful candidate, is a well-known business man of this city, being a member of the firm of Ball and Orme, grain dealers. Mr. Orme has never been active in politics but is a staunch Democrat. As a member of the council Mr. Orme has one year to serve to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Norris.

The only other thing done by the council was the ratifying of a contract with John Crawley. The contract was for the use of Mr. Crawley's land west of the city in drilling wells. It was the usual contract where the city uses land for the purpose of finding water.

Hopkins' plea for clemency and a new trial failed in court Saturday and he at once prayed for an appeal. He has been sentenced to a term of two to fourteen years in the State

WILL RECEIVE GIFTS XMAS DAY

Extra Postoffice Force Will Work
Tomorrow so As Not to Spoil
Day For Any Patron.

RECORD FOR SALE IS MADE

Fifty-Two Hundred One-Cent Stamps
Disposed of in One Day.
Totals $196.

Everyone in Rushville will receive his or her Christmas gift on Christmas day, if it comes through the mails and if it reaches Rushville any time Wednesday. That was decreed by Charles Frazee, postmaster, this morning.

"We will be delivering mail all day Wednesday," said Mr. Frazee this morning, "so that people who receive presents and gifts through the mail will not be disappointed. We expect to deliver every package that looks like it might contain some Christmas cheer on Christmas day, no matter if we have to work into the night."

Extra men and vehicles have been engaged to facilitate the delivery of the Christmas mail. They were pressed into service today when the holiday bundles began pouring in so fast that they could not be handled by the regular force. The Christmas mail is not believed to be any heavier, either going or coming, than it has been in previous years.

Christmas day is the one holiday of the year that the rural mail carriers do not get to enjoy. If they should not go over their routes on that day they would be so swamped the day following that it would be impossible to haul their mail. And besides their patrons would not receive their Christmas gifts until a day late.

The city carriers will make their regular routes once in the morning. The windows at the postoffice will be open until ten o'clock in the morning.

A new record for receipts was made at the postoffice yesterday. A total of $196 was taken in by the clerks, which is sixty-one dollars larger than the largest day preceding the holidays in the history of the Rushville postoffice.

The office force was pushed all day yesterday to wait on the customers. Fifty-two hundred one-cent stamps were sold and no one person bought more than two hundred. The two days previous to this fell off in sales so that the total Christmas sales will not be much larger than those of last year.

To Its Many Friends The Daily Republican Sends the Season's Greetings. Approximately 275 children were made happy this afternoon when the packages purchased through the Daily Republican Santa Claus fund were delivered. Several automobiles and rigs helped deliver the gifts to the little ones and in all the Christmas spirit was brought into 100 homes. The work of delivering, which has always been one of the hardest attached to the fund, was made this afternoon in record time.

The fund this year fell short of that of last year. Only one contribution was received today. The bidding on the two dolls continue very brisk. A bid of $5.00 remains on one and the other has been boosted to $6.25. The dolls will be given to the highest bidder tonight and it is expected by the fund will reach $150 by the money received for the two dolls.

BUILDER OF SEWER DEAD

Julius Keller Expires From Injuries
of Five Weeks Ago.

Julius Keller, who constructed the sewer system in Rushville, is dead at an Indianapolis hospital from injuries he received five weeks ago when his buggy was struck by a train as he was attempted to across the tracks. He suffered a brain concussion, a lacerated hip, a fractured arm and internal injuries. Mr. Keller became well acquainted here during the time the sewer was being constructed. He came to Indiana from Germany in 1889. He is survived by a widow, three sons, three brothers and a sister.

Word has been received that a baby was born to the wife of Ward Hubbard, brother of Walter Hubbard of this city, at their home in Tipton a few days ago.

Mrs. Mary O'Neil, who is about eighty years old, is critically ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Owen McKee.

DRIVES AWAY WITH RIG WHILE DRUNK

Riley Stewart Gets Too Much Christmas Spirit and Takes Horse
From Rack.

IS FINED FOR INTOXICATION

Riley Stewart, living southeast of the city, got a little too much Christmas spirit under his belt last night and took a rig belonging to Roy Davis from the rack back of the Knecht store. Stewart got only as far as the corner of Main and Second streets when his joy ride was interrupted by the police and Davis recovered his property.

This morning Stewart was fined one dollar and costs by Mayor Black on an intoxication charge and in default of payment was returned to jail where he will spend Christmas unless he finds an "angle." It was thought a charge of grand larceny would be brought against Stewart but Davis was satisfied with having recovered his horse and buggy.

EXPENSIVE ONES TO BE HAD

"Mister, please give me a calendar and some almanacs," is the question that is pouring into the ears of the business men of the city at this season of the year.

Persons can be seen going in every direction with calendars. Some are in possession of high-class calendars which are being given out by local business firms, while others have obtained those bearing the advertisements of patent medicine concerns.

Many merchants are giving out calendars of most beautiful designs which are being much sought after. Every family at his time of the year is looking for a guide of the year of 1913.

DOCTOR'S WIDOW HE ADVOCATES CALLED BY DEATH GENERAL LEVY

Funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Spillman
Will be Held at Andersonville
U. B. Church Thursday.

PNEUMONIA'S FATAL TURN

Disease is Brought on by Exposure
During Visit With Relatives
in Ohio.

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Spillman, age sixty-nine, a native of Andersonville, who is dead at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wilbur Miller, south of Connersville, will be held at the Miller home Thursday morning. From there the cortege will move to the U. B. church in Andersonville where another service will be held. Burial will take place in the Fisher cemetery.

Mrs. Spillman was the widow of the late Dr. Frank J. Spillman of Andersonville. About ten days ago she returned from a visit with relatives in Ohio to the home of her daughter near Connersville. Directly after her return she contracted pneumonia, presumably brought on by exposure during the trip.

From the beginning the most painstaking treatment was given her, and under it she seemed to improve. The relatives and the friends were altogether hopeful until Saturday morning, when one of those sudden relapses, peculiar to pneumonia, occurred. There was little to be done, and from that time till the end the decline was steady and swift.

Mrs. Spillman was born at Albany, N. Y., June 6, 1844, and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wrightston. At the age of sixteen years she went to Newport, Ky., and while residing there attended school in Cincinnati. In the year 1861 she was united in marriage to Frank J. Spillman at Cold Springs, Ky., after which they removed to Andersonville, where they resided.

Her husband preceded her in death January 4th, 1902. In October of the same year she removed to Fayette county, where she since resided with her daughters, Mrs. W. P. Miller and Mrs. Elizabeth Moore. Five children were born to the union, Mrs. Anna Scott, who passed away in Arizona, where she had gone in hopes of regaining her health, Mrs. Jennie Shriver, of Brookville, Mrs. Minnie Miller and Dr. Frank J. Spillman of Connersville all of the latter being at her bedside when she passed away. She was a member of the Episcopal church and also of the Eastern Star.

Addison C. Harris of Indianapolis
Says Everybody Should Help Pay For Roads.

EVERYONE USES THEM HE SAYS

Expense Would Not Fall Alone on Farm Owners—Wants Competent Road Engineer.

Professional and business men are taking interest in proposed legislation that may come before the Legislature. No citizen of Indiana probably has been identified more largely with state legislation than Addison C. Harris, attorney. For many years Mr. Harris has been called upon to assist in the preparation of bills to be offered the Legislature and any views he may have on the subject of needed laws are entitled to the consideration due to one who has had a wide experience in such matters.

Commenting on roads, Mr. Harris says, in part: "The stability and efficiency of a road depends upon the foundation. There ought to be a good road engineer in the service of the state; first, to provide proper specifications and details for construction and maintaining our roads; and, then, second, with power and authority to enforce compliance."

"Roadbuilding is as much a matter of practical knowledge as the erection of buildings or other improvements. No one would think of investing a large sum of money in a building without securing the services and supervision of a competent architect. So roads should be built under the eye of a good engineer."

"Now, as the roads are for the use of all the people in the State, it would seem that the people at large contribute in part to the expense of the construction and maintenance of the highways. Such cost ought not to rest wholly upon the farming public and the people living outside of cities. It follows that there should be a general road levy on all the property of the state, both in and outside the cities, and used toward a general highway fund. Then it is proper that the localities contribute a ratable proportion."

RUSHVILLE DUDES DISTURB QUIET OF A GREENSBURG SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Bunch Traveling by Freight Swipe
Auto From Other Crowd and Police Are Called.

CUTS SWATH WITH THE BELLES

A number of Rushville society young men came down Sunday afternoon to call on their young lady friends, says the Greensburg Review. Part of the bunch beat their way down on a freight, and the others came in an auto. The boys who came on the freight saw the swath their fellow-townsmen were cutting with the big auto, and decided to make way with it. While the auto passengers were enjoying the society of a number of young ladies at the skating rink, the freight train crowd took possession of the gasoline wagon and proceeded to burn up the streets about the city. They had not been reveling in the delights of the joy ride long before their game was discovered by the other Rushvillians, and they proceeded to let out a mighty holler. The police were called, and then a real race begun. Up one street and down another pursued and pursuers flew. Clouds of dust and streaks of fire marked the trail of the chase. Citizens on the streets, thinking that a bloody crime had been committed, joined the officers in the man hunt. On they went until

Turkey Must Give Up Her European Possessions.

BASIS FIXED FOR BICKERING

It Is Not to Be Supposed For a Moment That Turkish Masters of Bargaining and Compromise Will Agree to Balkan Demands, but the Conference Has Been Given a Starting Point From Which to Work.

London, Dec. 24.—In diplomatic circles there is encouragement over the result of late meetings of the peace negotiators. The delegates of the allies and Turkey have reached definite business, and the perplexing demand of Turkey for the revictualing of Adrianople has been dropped for the time being. It may be that this problem of revictualing the beleaguered Turkish cities may never again come up at the conference at St. James, but in all probability it will be referred to the military commanders of the allies and the Turk. The allies' territorial demands were read to the Turkish delegates. These call for the surrender of all the Turkish portions in Europe with the exception of that part of the mainland eastward of a line from Midia to Rodosta. Turkey must not only renounce her special rights in Crete, but must yield all of the Aegean islands.

The question of Albanian territory was mentioned, but nothing was said about the indemnity which it is understood will be discussed in the future in connection with the Ottoman debt, a part of which will fall on the shoulders of the allies. Rechid Pasha and the Turkish delegates asked for time to consider the demands. The next meeting was set for Saturday, and the Turkish representatives will confer with the porte in the meantime.

It is not to be expected that Turkey will come to Saturday's conference with any idea of yielding to the demands of the little states. Such is not the way of the bargaining Turk. The allies will be fooled if they expect any such easy diplomatic victory. They will have to struggle as desperately at St. James as they did on the battlefield, and they will have as opponents masters at this sort of warfare. The Ottoman delegates are going into the struggle with the confident expectation that the demands of the allies will be greatly reduced.

FIRST INDICTMENT UNDER THIS CLAUSE

Railway Officials Charged With Conspiracy.

New York, Dec. 24.—Investigation by the government of the proposed alliance between the Grand Trunk and the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, causing the discontinuance of a part of the extension of the Grand Trunk system, an act which aroused a storm of protest in several New England cities, has resulted in the indictment of Charles S. Mellen, president of the New Haven road; Edson J. Chamberlain, president of the Grand Trunk system, and Alfred W. Smithers, chairman of the board of directors of the Grand Trunk system.

They are indicted under the first clause of the Sherman anti-trust act, which makes it a conspiracy to form a combination in restraint of trade, and are the first big railroad officials to be indicted under this clause of the law. The penalty upon conviction is one year in prison, a fine of $5,000, or both. The indictment which names the three railroad men was filed with Judge Hough in the United States circuit court by the special grand jury which has been investigating the New Haven-Grand Trunk deal.

No Clue to Bold Thieves.
London, Dec. 24.—The British police are as far as ever from a clue to the mystery of the theft of $50,000 in gold from a consignment of $1,000,000 sent from the Bank of England a short time ago to the offices of the Credit Lyonnais at Alexandria.

Child Burned to Death.
Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 24.—Irene Matherly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Matherly, was burned to death. Her clothing caught fire when she opened a stove door.

Castro to Proceed.

Washington, Dec. 24.—The state department has received confirmation of the report that Cipriano Castro, former dictator of Venezuela, is on board the steamer La Touraine, enroute to New York from Havre. Should Castro be permitted to land, it is certain he will never be permitted to go to Venezuela from here. The United States will see to it that he does not disturb the peace of the Caribbean countries again.

FINANCE PUZZLE IN TURK DEFEAT

What Will Happen to Holders of Is Debt?

"TRIPLE MONEY ALLIANCE"

France, England and Germany, Having Poured Millions into Turkish Loans,
Can Be Relied Upon to Insist Upon
Guarantees of Their Citizens' Investments—Position of Ottoman Bank.

In the event of the defeat of Turkey the financial consideration will be of great importance. Writing of the first steps toward peace negotiations M. Leroy-Beaulieu, a political and financial authority of high repute, puts the situation thus: "Turkey's appeal will hardly be considered unless its government accepts as terms of peace its complete abandonment of its European possessions, including Constantinople, and the hour seems near at hand when it must resign itself to that concession."

Whether this prediction is right or wrong in regard to the fate of Constantinople, it is admittedly correct as regards at least a partial dismemberment of the empire. But that involves international considerations of another sort. These other difficulties concern the Turkish national debt, with its lien on the taxes in the European dominions; the loans guaranteed by other European revenues in virtue of the decree of Mouharrem; and, finally, the future status of the Turkish imperial bank, known as the Banque Ottomane.

Turkey's Loan Security.
The revenues pledged against Turkey's various foreign loans consist to some extent of proceeds of taxes of provinces outside of Europe, such as the Egyptian tribute and the grain tithe of various districts of Asia Minor. But revenues from European Turkey are also largely involved.

Italy has set a precedent in assuming a proportional part of the similar debt when taking possession of Tripoli. An agreement somewhat similar has been made by Spain in Morocco.

But events have crowded so closely and have already come so near to the complete dissolution of the old order for Turkey in Europe that awkward questions will shortly have to be faced. It is beginning to be recognized that much will depend on the good will of the Balkan allies, especially if their victory is complete and final.

Who Holds the Debt?

The present situation is plain enough. France, England and Germany, the "Triple Money Alliance," have for years opened their money markets wide to Turkish loans, and it is highly improbable they will not unite to insist on preserving the guarantees of their citizens' investments. France has the heaviest interests at stake. A moderate estimate assigns to French holdings 70 per cent of the total Turkish obligations. The United 4 per cent loan—the most important—can present no immediate difficulty. Its annual service demands £2,157,375 (pounds Turkish, equal about $4.40 each in American money), and the annual receipts applied to it are £4,000,000, so that there is a reserve of nearly £2,000,000 for eventualities.

But the nature of the guarantees of this principal debt shows whence difficulties may arise. They are a part of the revenues of the salt and tobacco monopolies, stamp and alcohol taxes, fishery dues and silk filices, commercial licenses, the tribute of Bulgaria, dues from oriental tunmela and surplus revenues of the island of Cyprus. Since these latter are themselves the result of international agreement, precedents to solve the coming difficulties may be found in them.

These are only five of the fourteen Turkish loans quoted on the official stock exchange at Paris.

The Balkan allies surely cannot expect to take the attitude of Cuba with respect to the Spanish national debt; still less that of Germany in Alsace-Lorraine with regard to the French national debt.

The Ottoman Bank Problem.

The difficulty of the Ottoman bank is peculiar, but may not prove insoluble. It is a private bank, with a large issue privilege for which it has certain obligations to the Turkish government. This is not a reason why it should not continue to serve the needs of whatever new regime may be established, even that of the Balkan allies. They have no substitute for its dozen branches in what was Turkey in Europe.

The more curious part of the problem arises from the fact that the bank has been obliged to make loans to the Turkish government for the present war and has received as a guarantee treasury notes which themselves are guaranteed by revenues collected by the debt administration.

In all this financial hornet's nest it is well to point out that all the national banks of the world have a certain common interest of self defence. They cannot afford to allow so important an international precedent to be drawn against investments made by them in years gone by in entire good faith and under the shelter and guarantee of treaties in which all the neutral powers participated.

COUNTY NEWS

Glenwood.

Rev. Sterrett preached a Christmas sermon Sunday mornin at 10:30 o'clock. It was well received by a very attentive audience. Just before the sermon, Mrs. Williams and Miss Jessie Murphy sang a duet very beautifully, entitled "Though Sins be as Scarlet." The audience was held spellbound throughout the rendition of the song. Miss Jessie sang soprano and Mrs. Williams sang alto, each rendering her part well.

The usual services were held at the U. P. church, Sabbath afternoon.

Everyone is looking forward to the making and receiving of gifts.

Lee Link is not the only one who has been on the rampage, as stated in an item of the Republican of Friday. There are others, and if they don't stop they, too, will be reported in these columns. There should not be any fine attached but a jail sentence at hard labor. We believe we know some who become intoxicated just to get their winter's board.

We have some citizens who make it a point to tease all young children of both sexes when they have been overtaken in a fault, or at least suspected of one. Now, is that the way to do? If not, these men had better cease their teasing.

Jesse Morris is now a full-fledged grocery man of our town. Success to you, Mr. Morris.

The new parsonage will be completed this week and will then be ready for occupancy.

Miss Ruth Harwell is able to sit up and receive callers part of the time.

Mrs. Mary A. Mapes, who has passed her 91st mile stone, is now able to be up and around. She almost had a siege of the pneumonia.

Mrs. E. Daily and children called on Grandma Daily southeast of here.

Verne Dolan and family have moved in with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Danham.

We understand that the McGraw hall will be initiated with a game of basket ball.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Link and son Leslie spent the Sabbath with Rev. and Mrs. C. S. Black, of Milroy, a former pastor here.

T. J. Richardson discovered that he had a siege with the whooping cough, which he thought at first was a cold.

We see from a description given in the Connersville Examiner that Waterloo township, Fayette county, has a new and consolidated school. The building has three rooms with all modern appliances and an auditorium in the basement, with heating and lighting plant. It only cost $12,000, while ours cost $15,000. Why the difference? Both buildings are out of brick. This one has one school room more, but the other has an auditorium and lighting plant. Why the difference in cost? Who can tell?

SCIENTISTS PUZZLED BY REMARKABLE DOG

Yale Professors Witness an Astonishing Test.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 24.—Cameroon, Petrunkevitch and Woodruff, three Yale professors, gave tests to Jasper, an English brindle terrier two years and three months old, born in Richmond, Va., and owned by Dixie Taylor, who is visiting different colleges to let the professors of psychology test the animal's mental qualities.

Prof. Petrunkevitch gave a two-hour's test to Jasper and then said he was the most wonderful dog he had ever seen. The professor ordered the dog to walk up the stairs, stop in the middle, and stand on his hind feet. Up the stairs walked the animal and directly in the middle of the staircase he stopped and placed his forepaws on the banister rail.

Prof. Woodruff went into a dark room, while the owner of the dog sat in the parlor some few doors away. With the dog, Taylor then told the dog to go into the room in which Prof. Woodruff was, and take a handkerchief out of the professor's pocket. The dog immediately bounded away and did as he was bidden. Other tests put to the animal were equally as hard. He was told to find a jar of ointment, which he did immediately. In quick succession he was told to knock over a wastebasket, open a door and pick up a pencil, all of which he performed immediately after the command.

Would Revise Jury System.

Auburn, Ind., Dec. 24.—A bill providing for thirteen jurors instead of twelve will be introduced by Senator-elect Glenn Van Auker of this city at the coming session of the state legislature. Mr. Van Auker has been court reporter for several years, and by observation he has become convinced the bill he proposes will prevent mistrials, delays, etc.

Workday Bill For Women.

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 24.—Preparations for the introduction in the state legislature of an eight-hour workday bill for women have been completed by Mrs. William E. Miller of this city. Mrs. Miller says she has submitted her bill to every senator and representative elected to the legislature, and has received many assurances of support.

UNCLE SAM'S BILLION COUNT

Two Months' Job Made Necessary by Change of Treasurer.

NO SHORTAGE IS LIKELY.

Democrats Once Caught Republicans With 2 Cents Missing, but Individual Employees Have Used Ingenious Methods of Stealing.

Uncle Sam is going about the counting of his money, something more than $1,000,000,000, and that it will not be entirely "easy day work" may be judged by the fact that it will employ about twenty husky laborers, besides a committee of treasury officers, for probably more than two months.

This count is made necessary officially by the change of United States Treasurer Lee McClung being succeeded by Carni Thompson of Ohio. When the formal transfer is made the new treasurer will give a receipt to the outgoing treasurer for more than $1,000,000,000 in gold and silver coin and paper money.

All of the paper money is counted piece by piece. Much of the gold is counted in that way, but practically all the silver and some of the gold are counted by weighing the sealed bags containing them on scales that are delicately poised so that the slightest variation from the ascertained weight of a bag of coin would be accurately recorded. The silver and gold coin is kept in sealed bags.

Tossing Around Money.

It requires some physical effort to count these. They are heavy, and each one must be handled separately. Taken from the pile in which it is stacked by a laborer, a bag is tossed to another laborer, who passes it before the committee of inspection. The committee after weighing the bag passes it on to other laborers, who put it back in the symmetrical pile until the next count is ordered.

Men have been permanently injured by accidents in handling these bags of coin. There are a number of men now being carried on the rolls of the treasury who have suffered sprains or broken limbs or been injured internally through being hit with money bags in the course of the official count.

The committee which supervises the count is usually composed of three persons, all officers of the treasury. These counts, often as a change in the treasurer's office has required them, have almost invariably shown the stock of Uncle Sam's money in the treasury to be intact, but once there was a shortage. It was in 1885, when the Democratic party succeeded to power in the government after years spent in the political wilderness.

There was also a frequent demand from campaign orators that the books of the treasury be opened and the cash counted. So the country was not wholly unprepared to hear that the official count of the billion or so in the treasurer's office had disclosed a shortage.

Shortage Caused Surprise.

There was really some surprise, though, at the size of the deficit. It was only 2 cents.

Republicans throughout the country rallied heroically to the relief of their party. A perfect shower of two cent stamps fell upon the United States treasurer, coming through the mails from all sections of the country, but it was not necessary to turn to private subscriptions to make up the deficit. Two days after the official count ended the missing 2 cents were found as the result of moving a desk.

So far as the memory of the present officers of the treasury's staff goes, this is the only shortage that has ever been disclosed by any count of treasury cash, although it is possible that there may have been some others. There have been losses and thefts from time to time.

One United States treasurer in recent years made the discovery that a thousand dollars was missing. The sum was represented by a single bill. He made good the loss, and congress later reimbursed him.

Several years ago a negro laborer managed to make away with several hundred dollars while engaged in the work of handling bags of silver. He was detected and punished.

He invented a novel method of securing money and concealing the act. He provided himself with slugs of lead each of which weighed exactly the same as the weight of a silver dollar. Not infrequently in the progress of a count these bags of silver coin fall open or are found to be untied. It is an easy matter for a skillful man to tear them open by quickly removing the string.

This laborer from time to time while working at the top of a huge heap of sacks of coin would report to the committee below that sacks were open, and he would then be directed to tie the sacks. Probably he was personally responsible for the sacks being open, but he seized this opportunity to extract one or more silver dollars from the bag and supplied lead slugs of equal weight to take their place.

When the bags were weighed later they were found to be of proper weight, and for a long time suspicion was averted from the offender. He had been a trusted employee, which aided his plan, but finally he was detected and arrested.

MRS. DAYTON IS NOT PERTURBED

Police Surveillance Does Not Affect Her.

THINKS JOE SNYDER IS DEAD

Widow of Richmond Cellar Murder Victim Believes Alleged Murderer of Her Husband Has Killed Himself, but Expresses Hope That He Has Not and That He Will Yet Be Brought to Punishment.

Richmond, Ind., Dec. 24.—Mrs. Clara Dayton still maintains the composure that has marked her attitude ever since the finding of the skeleton of her husband in the cellar of her home, though she is now aware of the fact that she is under police surveillance. Mrs. Dayton has expressed the opinion many times that Joseph Snyder, the alleged murderer, has killed himself, but she hopes, she says, that if he has not he soon will be arrested. "I would like to see him punished to the full extent of the law," said Mrs. Dayton, "and I believe that if he is not dead it will only be a matter of time until he is caught."

Police officers in a half dozen Indiana and Ohio towns have arrested men suspected of being Snyder, and have telephoned to Superintendent of Police Gorman here, who in each case ordered the men released when a detailed description of the men in custody was given. Superintendent Gorman does not believe Snyder is many miles from Richmond.

BROUGHT THE TEARS

Lawyers' Appeals to Jury Stir Dynamite Defendants.

Indianapolis, Dec. 24.—Pathetic appeals to the jury in the dynamiting cases were made by attorneys for the defendants who plead with the jury men not to be guided by prejudice, but to remember their wives and children at home and to think of other wives and children if they should send innocent men to prison. Attorney Harding made a strong plea for President Ryan and the members of the executive committee of the iron workers' union, and analyzed the evidence against them, declaring that it did not show that they had been guilty of a single illegal act. He picked Ryan as a man on whom McNamara had shamefully imposed in connection with the financial affairs of the organization. Several of the defendants were in tears as their lawyers referred to their homes and waiting wives and children.

A TEST CASE

Indiana Poll Tax to Get Into the Supreme Court.

Elkhart, Ind., Dec. 24.—That Indiana's poll tax law is unconstitutional is the contention of City Judge C. A. Lee in a demurrer he filed as attorney for V. P. Kasba, a Socialist, who is making a test case by resisting the collection of the tax. The constitutionality of the law is attacked on the ground that the act is not uniform, as it exempts male persons before reaching twenty-one years and after they are fifty, and also exempts city firemen. The Socialists say they will carry the case to the supreme court if necessary.

Prison Doors Open to Twenty-Five.

Indianapolis, Dec. 24.—The governor acted on the December report of the state board of pardons, following its recommendations for eleven paroles and one pardon. In addition to the grants of the state board, the governor unbarred the doors of the Indiana reformatory at Jeffersonville and released fourteen prisoners there on the recommendation of Superintendent David C. Peyton. All of these paroles were planned by officials of the state institution as Christmas gifts to men whose records for service and trustworthiness merited them.

Serious Auto Accident.

Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 24.—Five occupants of an automobile were seriously injured when a streetcar crashed into the machine at a street intersection. The automobile was wrecked. The injured were: Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Helges, Emily Miller, Mrs. Blanche Miller and Ralph Helges, six years old. The boy is in a critical condition.

Auto Crushed Boy to Death.

Huntington, Ind., Dec. 24.—Paul Jones, aged seven, son of Clyde Jones, was killed when an automobile ran over him, the wheels crushing his head.

ANCIENT RUINS

Long Forgotten City Discovered by Aviators in Wilds of Tripoli.

Rome, Dec. 24.—Two Italian officers reconnoitering about Tripoli in an airship discovered beyond Zaira a ruined city amidst the sand and wilderness. The city was identified as Sabatta, once a flourishing colony of imperial Rome.

Flying low, the officers took photographs which upon development revealed imposing, extensive and well preserved ruins with many marble statues.

The Fact That We Are Selling the Most of the Storm Buggies This Year

is easily accounted for. It is no trouble to sell a buggy if you have the best buggy, the best price, and the best terms. We claim these three points of advantage but are willing to leave the matter to you to decide whether or not our claim is a just one. We believe that you will agree with us on this decision if you will take the time to come in and see our stock of storm buggies. We also believe that if we can convince you of the fact that we can give you the best buggy at the best price and on the best terms, and you want a Storm Buggy that we can sell you what you want. Remember our buggies are different in style as well as quality and if you buy one of them, you will be satisfied with it.

Suitable Reward.

Bills have recently been introduced into the Senate and House of Representatives looking to the reward of Colonel Goethals by authorizing his appointment as an additional major-general, and, in the discretion of the President, providing for his assignment as chief of engineers. This proposition suggests several comments, the first of which is that it makes no provision for the reward of Colonel Gorgas. It is also defective in that its provisions depend in part on a contingency which Congress cannot control, because the selection of the chief of engineers is a constitutional function of the executive.

It is now recognized by all well-informed persons that the sanitation of the Isthmus was as essential to the success of the canal construction as was the surmounting of the engineering difficulties, and, of the two sets of problems involved, the sanitary problems were never and along less well-beaten paths than were the engineering ones. While Colonel Goethals is the administrative head of the commission, he and Colonel Gorgas have at present the same military rank. The applications of engineering science to canal construction have no intrinsic precedents over those of medical science to the new and complex questions of tropical sanitation; it would seem, therefore, that there should be little or no difference in the value of the rewards given the two, and it is appropriate that they be provided for in the same act.

There are some other considerations which might well be kept in view when such legislation is under consideration. This work is a great national enterprise which is apart from the usual activities of army officers, and in no way connected with army administration. The reward should be in keeping with the national dignity and the magnitude of the enterprise, and should be outside of the routine of Army promotions, so that other officers of the engineering and medical corps who have borne the burden of the routine but important work, without the incentives of increased pay and public applause, may not be called on to give their own ewe lamb of promotion as a contribution to the nation's gift.

An incubator said to have been used by George Washington was made in 1712. If the Father of his Country had ever tried a contrivance of that kind he would not have been satisfied with one made twenty years before he was born, nor would Benjamin Franklin have failed to originate something better.

A town that never has anything to do in a public way is on the way to the cemetery. Any citizen who will do nothing for his town is helping to dig the grave. A man who curses the town furnishes the coffin. The man who is so selfish as to have no time from his business to give to city affairs is making the shroud. The man who will not advertise is driving the hearse. The man who is so stingy as to be howling hard times, preaches the funeral, sings the doxology, and thus the town is buried from all sorrow and care.

Kansas aches to the front in Washington with some recall theories. Having just recalled a Republican governor and replaced him with a Democrat, and helped to recall a Republican president in the same way, Kansas must be delighted with its Democratic boom, even though the result of unconscious celebration.

Not hardly does Woodrow Wilson receive letters threatening his life, but judging by his other correspondence, he must have to pay several cents excess postage to get them out of the office.

If President Taft would teach his class in constitutional law how to get around the constitution, there is no doubt that it would be a howling success.

While dissolving the coal trust does not make coal cheaper, it has given the department of justice healthful occupation for five years.

The hold-up men threaten Gov. Wilson's life, but before they "get" him, the office seekers will have talked him to death.

LAFOLLETTE DRAWING CARD

A number of Rushville and Rush county teachers will attend the annual meeting of the State Teachers Association which begins in Indianapolis the day after Christmas. The program for the three days session contains so much of interest to the pedagogues that the officials of the State association feel that its distribution over the State will bring good results. The chairman of the executive committee, while sending out the programs, has discovered that there are over 13,000 teachers in Indiana who are not members of the association. This leaves about 4,000 which belong.

Of course Senator Bob LaFollette, who is to speak Thursday evening December 26, will be one of the big drawing cards. The State legal authorities have ruled that teachers may be allowed daily wages for attending the state association in Indianapolis, under the law enacted by the last legislature, permitting school authorities to set aside three days out of each school year for visiting other schools and for attending teachers' meetings.

IN BIG DEMAND THIS YEAR

The origin of the Christmas tree is enshrouded in that period of world history when facts were handed down chiefly by word of mouth and all the beautiful mystery of tradition clings about it, says an exchange. Somewhere near a thousand years after the Christ child came, there drifted into Europe a wonderful story from the Holy Land. How it came no one knows authentically. But when it came it adapted itself to the ceremonies already in existence and of the union grew the Christmas tree. Christmas trees this year are in unusual demand.

REPUBLICAN'S NEW SERIAL

The day after Christmas will be a fine time to come up smiling. On that day, Thursday, December 26, the Daily Republican will start its new serial story, "He comes up Smiling," by Charles Sherman. It is the holiday book. It has taken marvelously well with reading public and the Daily Republican was quick to see the trend of favor toward it. "Watermelon," around whom this delicately, romantic comedy-novel is wound, is an unusual character. He is one of the so-called knights of the road, but he is not a "regular" tramp. He is distinctly different from the ordinary popular novel heroes in that he comes up smiling every time. He never grows morose; he never sours on the world; the inspiration his life affords is a sure cure for pessimism in a word, he is a new man in the world of fiction.

He is kidnapped by a Wall street "bear," by a general, and by the most beautiful girl in the world, but he never grows weary. You'll always find him smiling. "Watermelon" is first aid for a grinch. He'll cure it.

Couriersville News: The Rev. W. H. Clark, who has been suffering severely of late, as the result of a rusty nail wound in one of his feet, is rapidly reaching complete recovery.

Mrs. A. T. Mahin received word this morning of the death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Webb P. Fouché in Indianapolis. Mrs. Fouché will be remembered here by many as she formerly resided in this city.

HOPKINS IS RELEASED; SPENDS XMAS WITH FAMILY

poor asylum will have a feast that will long be remembered. There is being prepared for them a meal that will be surpassed by few at this happy season. The menu will be headed by turkey—some of the "home-grown" kind that sizzles and simmers when the good sauce and gravy is poured over it.

Carefully and faithfully have the attendants and some of the inmates at the county institution watched over this bunch of turkeys. Their greedy eyes have watched the Christmas birds grow from tweeting infancy to gobbling, strutting maturity. They had been promised a turkey dinner for Christmas some time ago, for them, but they could not be found, and the supposition is that they crawled under a pile of lumber and waited for the night freight to bear them back to the village from whence they came. The auto was returned to its owner and once more the usual Sunday afternoon quiet of the city was restored.

DEATH COMES TO JOSEPH L. FINLEY

Former Resident of This City Dies Just Three Days After His Wife.

REMAINS BROUGHT HERE

Joseph L. Finley, 75 years old, a former resident of this city, died yesterday afternoon at his home 1533 North Illinois street, Indianapolis. Mr. Finley had been in poor health for some time and the shock occasioned by the death of his wife only last Friday brought on pneumonia which caused his death. Mr. Finley was unable to come here Sunday when his wife was buried.

Mr. Finley was well known here and at one time was superintendent of the county asylum. He was a member of the local Knights of Pythias lodge. He is survived by two children, Mrs. Minnie Enslley and Charles F. Finley. The funeral services will be conducted tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock at the late residence and the remains will be brought here for burial, arriving on the 1:20 I. & C. car. The burial will be in charge of the Knights of Pythias.

ROYAL PARADE

Bomb Thrower Attacks Viceroy of India.

LORD HARDINGE BADLY HURT

As Royal Procession Was Entering India's New Capital to Set Up the Government in the Ancient Seat of the Grand Mogul a Bomb Was Hurl'd From a Housetop Directly Upon the Elephant Bearing the Ruler.

Delhi, India, Dec. 24.—As he made his entrance on a purple-hung elephant into this new capital of India, Baron Hardinge, viceroy and governor general of India, was wounded by the explosion of a bomb thrown at him.

One of his attendants was instantly killed and another seriously hurt. Though the viceroy had to leave the procession, his place was taken by another, so that the natives might see that nothing could be allowed to interfere with the British rule of India. As they hurried the wounded viceroy to a hospital the long barbaric splendor of the procession moved slowly on and the official announcement was read to the assembled princes of India that henceforth Delhi, key of Hindustan, city of Shah Jahan, where still the romance of the ancient east lingers, will be the seat of England's rule instead of more modern Calcutta.

When it was announced last October that Delhi was to be the imperial city, those in touch with Indian affairs wondered what the result would be upon the imagination of the natives. Delhi is a Mohammedan city and few cities have a more honorable or more ancient history. Over the entrance halls of the palace of the moguls there is carved, "If there is a heaven on earth, it is this; it is this; it is this." Even the hideousness of modern English barracks have failed to destroy its old-time beauty. But the Bengalis objected to the loss of glory of government, the merchants of Calcutta muttered when they heard that the capital was to be removed from there.

An Indian crowd in holiday splendor greeted the viceroy and his wife as they stepped from their train and cheered the popular ruler to the echo. The two mounted to the howdah on the huge back of the viceroy's elephant. Above their heads a native attendant held the great parasol, the symbol of royal dignity. The mahout between the elephant's ears pricked the great beast and the procession started. Behind the viceroy came the elephants of the native princes and high British officials. They turned down the narrow ways of the Chandai Chowk, a street lined with one-story houses, the roofs of whose houses were black with cheering natives.

Of a sudden from one of the low-lying roofs, almost on a level with the back of the elephant, a bomb was thrown directly at the viceroy's howdah. It burst with terrific force. The howdah was smashed to kindling wood. The parasol bearer went whirling to the ground horribly mutilated. The mahout sank down upon the broad head of the elephant. The bomb had landed a foot from the viceroy. Lady Hardinge, who had not been hurt, turned to her husband. She saw that he was wounded. He motioned to go ahead. "It's all right," he assured his wife. "Tell them to go on." Lady Hardinge then said, "We cannot; there is a dead man here."

The viceroy tried to rise, but fell back in a faint. Officials were running up by this time and the police were clearing the streets. They found Lord Hardinge bleeding and his wife terribly shaken. For but a moment did the procession pause. The viceroy was taken to the hospital and his wife to the vice regal residence. At the hospital it was found that his wounds were not serious. The worst of them was a deep one four inches in length, exposing the shoulder blade. His back was cut by metal splinters with which the bomb had been filled, and his hat was cut to ribbons by them. The physicians say that it was only a miracle that saved the viceroy.

Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson, financial member of the viceroy's council, took his wounded chief's place and the procession started again.

At the durbar camp, where the chiefs and rajahs had assembled, Sir Guy read to them, standing in front of the vice regal dais, a message that the viceroy was but slightly hurt. There was prolonged cheering. Everywhere the deepest indignation was expressed over the wounding of the popular ruler. The natives aided the police in their search for the bomb thrower. A reward of $2,000 was offered, but he has not yet been taken.

POWERFUL RANGE

New Government Wireless Station to Reach Three Thousand Miles.

Washington, Dec. 24.—The navy department has decided to send the scout cruiser Salem to sea next month to make final tests of the maximum capacity of the new navy wireless station at Arlington, Va.

The contract provides that there shall be established communication with points 3,000 miles from the station. The Salem will ascertain whether the station can cover the range required.

TRAIN ROBBERS LOOT
THE ALTON HUMMER

Daring Robbery of Express Near Springfield.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 24.—Shortly before midnight, the Alton hummer of the Chicago & Alton railroad was held up near Isles Junction, two miles south of here.

The hold-up men detached the engine and the express car from the rest of the train and forced the engineer and fireman to go ahead with the engine and express car.

At 1 o'clock the railroad men recovered the engine and express car and brought them back to the scene of the hold-up, and the train was able to proceed.

It is reported that the robbers obtained valuables worth approximately $50,000.

The passengers were not disturbed, the bandits apparently seeking only the booty in the express car.

Relieving Old General.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 24.—A certified check for $5,000 has been received from Mrs. Daniel E. Sickles by Attorney General Carmody as part payment for the $25,000 unaccounted for by General Sickles as chairman of the New York monuments commission. The balance of the money is to be paid into the state treasury within a month, according to the agreement between the general's son Stanton and the attorney general.

Train Crashes Into Buggy.

Hartford City, Ind., Dec. 24.—Harvey Schrack, aged twenty-seven, was killed; his wife so seriously injured she cannot live, and their two children, a son, aged five, and a daughter, aged nine months, narrowly escaped death when a buggy in which they were driving was struck by an east-bound Pennsylvania fast train.

Illness May Prove Fatal.

New York, Dec. 24.—Mrs. Payne Whitney, daughter of the late John Hay and wife of the second son of the late William C. Whitney, is very ill at her home on Fifth avenue. Mrs. Whitney was taken ill on Saturday and on Sunday a child was born which lived but a short time.

The Panama canal furnishes a text for Rondet Saint, a French authority on political affairs, who makes a remarkable analysis of the United States' Imperial policy and draws conclusions that are being widely discussed in Europe.

He complains that insufficient importance is attached in France to events now taking place in Central America, where, he says, the United States is moving, in the way foretold long ago by all who gave themselves the trouble to think and look ahead, in the carrying out of its policy of annexation. This step he considers to be actuated not by "the luxury of imperialism or national ambition," but to be an essential necessity. He says:

"The United States is pursuing two aims—first, by cutting through Panama to insure the proper working of its naval and merchant fleets of the Atlantic and Pacific; second, to strengthen pan-Americanism from one end to the other of the new world under the negis of the great North American republic."

Uncle Sam's Capacious Pocket.

After setting forth recent events in Panama, Colombia and Nicaragua the writer continues:

"The United States is, according to a recent saying, like a giant who will put in his pocket five little children—the five republics of Central America. This event is almost mathematically certain, and the rest of the world will accept its accomplishment without protest, since their interests in this particular domain do not amount to one-tenth of the Yankee nation's stake."

"It must not, however, be thought that the question will be a simple one. It is bound up with circumstances not yet apparent, but profoundly troubling, because inevitable and incalculable in their consequences."

"I speak of the political, economic and ethnographic barrier raised by Mexico before the projects of the Union."

"Here, then, is a serious consideration. But there is another which should be still more pressing in the eyes of the Yankees. When the northern provinces of Mexico were annexed the conquerors omitted, for some inexplicable reason, to take over the narrow strip of land at the bottom of the gulf of California, which joins northern California to the state of Sonora. The United States thus closed to itself the outlet of the Sacramento basin, which serves the whole southwest of the Union. The outlet of this river, economically so important, is a cul de sac, the last American city in Arizona being some distance from the hinterland. No Yankee expansion is perceptible in the immense gulf of California. No port has been created at the mouth of this immense river, where a maritime metropolis would have commanded the surrounding country and opened up the hinterland."

Need the Gulf of California.

"After the completion of the Panama canal will the United States consent indefinitely to leave its southwestern states isolated from the sea and let the vast fluvial network of the Sacramento remain a closed road when it should be one of the most active vehicles of commercial movement of a great part of the Union?"

"Moreover, the gulf of California forms the natural access of the United States to the canal and is also the obvious route of the relations of the United States with Central America, already partly occupied by it today."

"We have thus all the elements of a formidable problem, not to say conflict, which we should follow with particular attention, for our country is by no means a disinterested spectator of the possible developments in that part of the world."

The writer concludes his article by dwelling on the approaching importance of Clipperton island, which, occupied by the French when far from any trade route, will with the opening of the isthmus lie directly in the new currents of the world's traffic toward the east. The French occupation is effective, he points out, since a light-house, visible from fifteen miles, has been kept up for some time by the French government.

The fact that Mexico's claims to possess this island were entertained by other nations and carried before The Hague tribunal constitutes, he says, an affront to French foreign politics, whatever sympathy France may have for the Mexican nation, "who might at the present moment more than ever gain for herself the friendly feeling of foreign nations."

MENTAL ACROBATICS OF A CEYLON YOUTH.

Remarkable Feats Performed by a Boy of Sixteen.

The report from the Ceylon branch of the Royal Asiatic society at Colombo describes the remarkable mathematical feats before that body of a Tamil boy of sixteen, named Arumugan.

The youth knows no English except the names of the numerals and mathematical expressions. He is abnormal not only in mind but in body, for he has six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot. Personally, he believes that his mathematical genius is a gift of the god Subramana. He says that when he was eight years old he was taken to the Karthigay festival at Tiruparankulam and that to the night he dreamed that the god came to him and wrote the word "Mathematics" on his tongue, and that in the morning he had twelve fingers and twelve toes instead of the normal number.

At the same time, he declares, he found himself suddenly possessed of great calculating powers. Among the tests to which he was submitted by the Royal Asiatic society, all of which he responded to in five seconds or less, were the square root of 553,775—the answer to which is 924; the cube root of 274,025—65; the product of 976 and 70—77,304; and the product of 62,347 and 231. The answer to the last, which is 226,922,175, came in two seconds.

In the case of one sum given him the examiners had the wrong answer set down in writing, but the correct answer was given by the youth. Problems in compound interest, discount, exchange and other arithmetical rules were given him, but he answered all tests correctly, using only mental calculations.

From time to time the world has been startled by wonderful lightning calculators such as this. Romanoff, the French lightning calculator, is still living and has been able for years to juggle in an extraordinary fashion with figures. He can give in a moment the day of the week on which any given date fell. There died at the end of last year the famous lightning calculator known as the "Marvellous Griffith."

When discovered, at twenty-seven years of age, by a Chicago newspaper man, he was working on a farm for 50 cents daily and his board. In February, 1910, a score of professors from Harvard university tried to corner Griffith, but he gave the solution to the problems set him almost immediately after they were mentioned to him.

Giuseppe Mangiameli, when eight years of age, could solve a great variety of very different arithmetical problems by the mere operation of the mind. The Royal Academy of Sciences in Paris placed him in a college, but it was found that his mental calculating faculties began to diminish when he devoted himself to ordinary study. The English mathematician, Wallis, performed arithmetical operations, such as the extraction of roots to forty decimal places solely by his marvelous power of memory.

RECORDED DEATH SYMPTOMS

Paris Professor After Taking Poison Made Notes of Condition.

Louis Charles Robin of Paris, the enthusiast for the co-education of the sexes, who committed suicide recently, killed himself with extraordinary calmness and deliberation. He was seventy-five years of age, and since he underwent a serious operation five years ago he had had bad health.

He held the opinion that any man who became incapable of useful work should "disappear," and to carry out his belief he obtained poison.

After taking a small quantity he sat down and made notes of his condition. One entry was to the effect that his effort was "unsuccessful" and that he must take a larger dose, which he expected would be fatal.

Professor Robin was usually an early riser, but as he had not appeared by 10 o'clock one morning his son went to his bedroom and found him almost at the point of death. He pointed to a bottle and was just able to say that he had taken some of the contents. He died soon afterward.

WOMAN, 87, GETS NEW TOOTH

Milan Resident Calls Doctor, Who Is Amazed by Phenomenon.

The Masi Torello correspondent of the Corriere della Sera, Milan, reports a strange event in the life of a countrywoman who has reached the ripe age of eighty-seven. The old woman is still strong and healthy, but not even these physical qualities led her to expect a new molar tooth to make its appearance in her mouth last year. One actually did grow; however, and a doctor was summoned to the old peasant's house. She complained of toothache, and the doctor was able to announce after a rapid examination that a second tooth was just beginning to grow.

The phenomenon is the subject of much comment, but there is at all events satisfactory medical evidence to testify that the strange report is fully warranted and accurate.

BAYONET THOUGHT OBSOLETE

Use Made by Bulgarians Wakes Up Military Experts.

It is curious to think that the bayonet, which has played so great a part in the Bulgarian victories, might not have been in existence if the military experts of the kingdom had had their way.

In 1892, in the Bulgarian scheme of modern armament, the Mammlicher rifles were ordered without bayonets, the authorities having come to the conclusion that the bayonet was obsolete in modern warfare. The average opinion of the army, however, soon made itself felt, and the first order was countermanded, and the rifle was ordered with the bayonet, but the bayonet was not of the ordinary size, but really a sort of knife. In subsequent orders the bayonet was not mentioned. It is interesting to speculate what the Bulgarian fortunes might have been without the bayonet.

ASKS FASTER FREIGHT TRAINS

Interstate Board Also Urges Co-operation to End Car Shortage.

So serious has the car shortage in this country become that the Interstate commerce commission has published an appeal to railroads and shippers to co-operate in order to avoid serious injury to numerous industries.

The railways in particular are asked to return borrowed cars as soon as possible. The commission also suggests to the carriers that they increase the speed of their freight trains.

Officers of the commission say this unprecedented car shortage is due to the unusually large crops and general activity in all the chief industries.

XMAS SHOPPING ENDS TONIGHT

Local Tradesmen Say Holiday Business Has Met Their Expectations in Every Respect.

SOME DECLARE IT BETTER

Marked Contrast Between Present Shopping Days and Those of Yore—Come in Autos.

The Christmas shopping season will come to a close this evening. With it will come the last final rush. Saturday was a big day for the merchants of Rushville; yesterday was almost as big and today thronged the streets.

The closing days of the shopping season this year were not marked by the stampede that they once were. The early shopping idea is gaining ground every year. It's common sense is appealing to people. The humanity side of it also has a direct appeal.

Although there was not the rush that usually is incident to the few days before Christmas, Rushville merchants have been doing the business anyway. Doubting Thomases need but visit a few stores where Christmas wares are on sale. One business man said yesterday his holiday trade had been better than for years. Others have made the same assertion.

But the shopping season is not what it once was. There is no hitchhacker around the court house, crowded with shivering teams, and there is not the shivering crowd congested on the street corners as in the old days. There are more places for the people to go now. A big store can swallow up hundreds of them.

There is one picture on the square that speaks eloquently of the change time has wrought. At 2 o'clock the entire court house square was skirted with automobiles—the machines of farmers. There was not a team of horses in sight except a couple which were hooked to moving vans that were standing out in the street on the south side.

Considerably more than half of the trade that came to Rushville for the final Christmas shopping came in automobiles and traction cars. The horse and buggy were all well enough in their day, but they are too slow for most of the farmer folk in this rapid age.

The merchants say that there are two things that reflect the condition of the community, as to whether it is prosperous or not. These things are the number of toys sold and the value of the presents purchased for adults. If there is scant buying of toys and if the presents for the grownups are of the cheap kind, the merchants know that money is not particularly plentiful among the people. This year the volume of toys sold in Rushville exceeds that of any former year, and it is said that the number of expensive presents has never been exceeded. This indubitably reveals that the people as a whole are pretty well provided with Christmas money.

The weather is all right in every particular except for the absence of snow. Everybody likes a nice layer of "the beautiful" along about Christmas. There was a little of last week's snow left in spots. The air, however, had the Christmas crisp in it, and begot the hope that by the time the jingle of the bells on the reindeers is heard the snow will be here.

TEACHERS CAN AID SANITATION

Dr. Charles North Would Use Rural Instructors and Tell Essentials of Sanitary Science.

SPECIAL TRAINING IS NEEDED

Says Mere Teaching of Physiology Is Not What is Needed—Increases Average of Life.

The country school teacher should be a public health educator, according to Dr. Charles E. North, of New York City, author of an article on "Sanitation in Rural Communities," just issued by the United States bureau of education. As the natural intellectual leader of his community, the rural teacher, he says, can do for public health in the country what the medical inspector and school nurse are doing in the city—point the way to clean living.

Mere teaching of physiology is not what is needed. Physiology may satisfy the curiosity of children, but it does not protect them in any way against tuberculosis from contaminated milk or typhoid from impure water. The rising generation, whether in the country or in the city, has a right to be instructed in the first principles of sanitary science.

Far from being difficult to teach in the elementary school, the subject of public health can be made both understandable and interesting, the article says. Such a simple operation as washing the hands, for instance, becomes attractive when studied with reference to bacteria.

"Personal cleanliness, purity of food and of drinks, the nature of disease, and the method of transference, are all things which can be expressed in the simplest terms and made clear to the understanding of children," asserts Dr. North. "Milk, its value as a food, the fact that it is highly appreciated by bacteria, and that it is, therefore, necessary to protect it against them—these are not too difficult for the child to understand."

Dr. North emphasizes the need of special training in this subject for school teachers. He believes that normal schools and teachers' colleges should have regular courses in public health, so that the country school teacher may be armed with the essential facts of sanitary science.

Remarkable results may be expected to follow adequate public health work by rural school teachers, he thinks. It is estimated that if effective sanitation were enforced the present average of forty-five years for human life would be prolonged to sixty. "In rural communities 400,000 persons die each year, and about two million others are seriously ill from infectious diseases," says Dr. North. "If only one-half of these deaths and cases of sickness can be eliminated it means that an immense field of useful work lies at the hand of the country school teacher who will become a public health educator, and will instruct the children and the mothers and fathers how to prevent the transference of poisonous bacteria."

Dr. J. C. Sexton has been requested by the Rev. Thomas McWhinney to address the Aid Society at the next meeting, on "Alaska."
